Spencer still on the links

North Halton Golf & Country Club junior member Samantha Spencer hasn't packed away her clubs for the season just yet as she played in the Canadian Junior Golf Association's Fall Series Finale and entered a couple of tournaments south of the border.

The 11-year-old from Georgetown South placed fifth in the open girls' division at the 36-hole CJGA event held at the Caledon Woods Golf Club with rounds of 101-100.

Andrew Tressel of Acton placed fifth in the boys' 17-19 category by shooting 78-82.

Spencer also entered an International Junior Golf Tour tournament in Hershey, Pa., placing seventh amongst a tough field in the girls' 11-14 age group with two rounds of 99. She played in the IJGT's Cyprian Keyes stop near Boston on the Thanksgiving weekend as the lone competitor in her age group, shooting 111-110.

She'll make her second trip this year to Pinehurst, N.C. for another IJGT tourney and has earned an invitation to compete in the IJGT Tournament of Champions May 23-26 in Orlando, Fla.

Star-struck

Longtime NHLer Jeff O'Neill has yet to sign on with a team for the 2007-08 season so he had some time to drop the ceremonial first puck and sign some autographs at a recent Georgetown Jr. A Raider game. Eight-year-old Mathew Russell of Georgetown's novice AE Raiders was one of dozens of youngsters eager to get a picture autographed by O'Neill, who is an acquaintance of Raider head coach James Richmond.
