Rockwood Seniors benefit from new Federal funds

Three local projects benefitted from the federal government's New Horizons for Seniors program from a total of $56,784 in funding, MP Michael Chong announced Monday.

The lions share of the funding – $25,000 – went to the East Wellington Advisory Group (EWAG) for a seniors' club to be established in Rockwood. The aim is to "reduce social isolation through implementation of social, recreational and intergenerational programs."

The Bennett Health Care Centre in Georgetown received $17,834 for a Memories to Talk About program – a project to implement weekly activities where volunteers and residents of the Centre participate in and create a memory book

"to increase communication abilities."

Finally, another $13,950 goes to the Community Resource Centre of North and Centre Wellington for a project to provide free, volunteer-based transportation for seniors.

Among other measures the federal government is working on for seniors are the following:

-Bringing forward legislation to make it easier for seniors to apply for and receive the Guaranteed Income Supplement;

-Increasing the Pension Income Credit from $1,000 to $2,000 per year;

-Introducing a Tax Fairness Plan that will increase the age credit by $1,000 (from $4,066 to $5,066) effective this year.
