Paula Stevens gets Lifesaving award

Paula Stevens, Aquatic Coordinator with the Town of Halton Hills, has been awarded the Lifesaving Society's Bar to Service Medal for her volunteer work in drowning prevention and lifesaving education.

Paula is an Examiner and Instructor Trainer in the Society's Swim, Lifesaving, First Aid and Lifeguard training programs. She is an Instructor of the Society's Aquatic Supervisor award and holds the Aquatic Safety Inspector certification. She has over 12 years of leadership on a variety of the Society's committees. She has volunteered to chair committees with formidable development tasks. This was true of First Aid Services that completely overhauled the Society's first aid awards; and true of the Swim Program committee that developed and launched the Society's new learn to swim program.

Her enthusiasm for new challenges serves the Society well. Today, she is helping to build lifesaving sport as Chair of Long-Term Athlete Development.

RECOGNITION FROM TOP: Halton Hills Aquatic Coordinator has been awarded the Lifesaving Society's Bar to Service Medal for her volunteer work in drowning prevention and lifesaving education. Here she is congratulated by Ontario Lieutenant Governor James Bartleman on her accomplishments. -Submitted photo.
