Al Gore's film on climate change hit with P.O.W.E.R.

The April 2 screening of Al Gore's An Inconvenient Truth was a great success, according to the evening's organizer, local environmental group Protect Our Water and Environmental Resources (P.O.W.E.R.)

It was standing room only for the 100 plus people who came to the screening and about half stayed for the discussion afterwards. Attendees were interested in looking at municipal action on this issue and learning about ways to reduce home energy consumption.

"This event was a great starting point for our community work and we're looking forward to taking the next step," says Fiona Wagner, chair of the Climate Change and Energy subcommittee.

P.O.W.E.R. is planning to present the discussion highlights at the next Halton Hills Council meeting on Monday, April 16. The group will also be proposing ways the town can assume their responsibility to do something.

"One strong message from the discussion is that citizens want the Town to take their role in minimizing greenhouse gases seriously. Citizens want Halton Hills to become a greener, healthier, more carbon-neutral community," says Leslie Adams, president of P.O.W.E.R.

'Global warming is a very big issue and it can be quite overwhelming but our goal is to help community members, businesses and government officials with solutions," says Wagner. "If everyone makes small changes to their daily routines, imagine what kind of a positive contribution Halton Hills citizens can make in lowering our collective carbon footprint."

Letters V 'Manliness, courage, loyalty qualities all leaders need

To the editor,

Monday, April 9, 2007 was the 90th anniversary of Vimy Ridge. This battle was won fought and won by the four Canadian Divisions who fought as one unit for the first time and the preparations and tactics they displayed.

Lord Byng of Vimy once said "Manliness, courage, loyalty - these are the quality that made the Canadian Corps famous, that gained them their splendid series of victories, that brought them through the critical times, and these qualities, which I saw for myself in the fighting man, were characteristic of the whole nation."

These are the standards that those of us who have since served in the Canadian Military and those who serve today strive to maintain.

However, I wonder if those standards still apply to some of our "so called civilian leaders" today.

I would bring your attention to the example set by Mayor Chris White of the Township of Guelph/ Eramosa who try to work toward fiscal responsibility.

Instead he supports those who try to prevent them from exposing cost over runs, waste and apparent misappropriation of funds.

He appears to approve of bullying and seems to use the tactic himself, especially on women.

This is not what one would call "Manliness, courage, loyalty" especially to the township citizens or council. He claims to posses "leader-ship qualities." Perhaps it is just another of Chris White's true bear stories.

Municipality of Halton Earth Day

April 22

This Earth Day, before putting items in the garbage, think of ways to reduce, reuse and recycle your waste.

Plastic grocery bags don't go in the Blue Box. Use a reusable bag or bin for shopping instead of accepting plastic bags. Or, instead of throwing plastic bags in the garbage, take them back to your local grocery store – many grocery stores have a bin to collect clean plastic grocery bags for recycling.

Return your liquor bottles (glass and plastic), Tetra-Pak® and Bag-in-Box containers to The Beer Store to receive your cash deposit. This is another way to increase the amount of bottles being recycled. By returning bottles to The Beer Store you free up space in your Blue Box which means you'll have more room to recycle other materials around your home.

Household hazardous waste - paint, varsol, stains, car oils, cleaners, pesticides, and solvents – should not be poured down the drain because they can contaminate our drinking water. If you put them in the garbage, they could actually mix together and catch on fire or explode! Bring your household hazardous waste - which also includes batteries and compact fluorescent light bulbs - to the Household Hazardous Waste Depot at the Halton Waste Management Site, where it can be properly refined, recycled or disposed of. This is free for residents.

If you've been spring cleaning in your closets, don't throw away unwanted clothes, books, toys, linens, paired shoes, kitchenware and undamaged furniture. Give them to a reuse charity so others can enjoy them. There's a Salvation Army drop-off located at the Halton Waste Management Site; for a list of other reuse charities in Halton, visit www.halton.ca/waste
