Garden to bloom in Max MacSween's memory

Horticultural Society honours late leader

By Frances Niblock

Hostas, day lilies and all manner of flowers and fauna will bloom in a memory garden named for the late Max MacSween, a Master Gardener whose green thumb is evident all over Acton.

The garden – with a limestone screening path, bench, arbour and lots of plantings – will extend the existing Rotary Park walkway leading from Main Street into Prospect Park, a joint venture between the Town and Rotary Club that MacSween spearheaded.

The Acton Horticultural Society first broached the idea of a garden to honour their former president and long-time member – MacSween knew of the plan before he succumbed to cancer last year.

MacSween, named 2004 Acton's Citizen of the Year for his endless enthusiastic efforts to make Acton look a little prettier, once said he

AT THE HEART: The 2.3-litre DOHC 16-valve 4-cylinder MZR DISI Turbo engine is tuned so that its muscular feel begins at 2,000 rpm. It delivers at least 99 percent of its maximum torque all the way to 5,000 rpm where peak horsepower is delivered. The result? Pulse-quicken power when you need it. One of WARD's 10 Best engines for 2006, you will find this amazing powertrain in the 2007 Mazda CX7, Mazdaspeed3 and Mazdaspeed6.
