Acton man gets excellence award

On April 30, 2007 at the Ontario Recreation Facilities Association's 52nd Annual Professional Development Program held at the University of Guelph, John Archibald, Facility Supervisor with the Town of Halton Hills, received the Association's C.C. Dahmer "Award of Excellence" at their Awards Banquet and Dinner reception.

This award is named in honour of Jada Dahmer, Secretary Manager of the former Ontario Arenas Association. This "Award of Excellence" is the highest honour that the ORFA can be bestowed on an active member of the Association. Recipients of this award epitomize the dedication, hard work and long service exhibited by Jada Dahmer since the founding days of the Association.

Archibald was presented with this award for his 10 years of service as an Executive member with 2 1/2 years as President of the ORFA, his leadership as chairperson of several committees including the arena committee and Constitution and by-law committee and for his continued hard-work and service he has and still provides to the ORFA. He is still a very active committee member with the ORFA today.

This award was presented to John Archibald by Bill Upper, President of the Ontario Recreation Facilities Association and Bud Stanley President of the Ontario Arenas Alumni.

One year ago in The New Tanner:

· Rural Acton residents are warned not to put out birdseed after a bear was spotted eating at a birdfeeder in the backyard of a residence on Fourth Line at Glen Lawson Road.

· A 40-year-old Acton woman fell or jumped from a moving van in Georgetown to escape the driver, who was arrested in Acton 90 minutes later and charged with forcible confinement and uttering death threats.

· Students who defied the odds and passed, those who helped others pass and those who made life easier and interesting were honoured by their teachers at an Acton Achievers breakfast at Acton

High School. Five years ago in The New Tanner:

· With no debate and evident pleasure, Town Council approved the Devon Place subdivision – 418 houses, parkland, open space and a school site – on the south side of Highway 7.

· An 18-year-old Acton boy walking on Mill Street is the latest victim of a vicious pit bull terrier that has bitten at least four people, charged at another and attacked another dog.

· Local politicians tell Town bylaw enforcement staff to make it a priority to get that vicious dog off the streets of Acton after several people complain the streets are not safe.

Varsity soccer

The Acton High School varsity soccer team was blanked 5-0 by St. Thomas Aquinas last Thursday and eliminated from the AA Halton final.

"The other team was all rep players, and although we held our own for the first half, allowing just one goal, we ran out of steam in the second (half)," said coach and teacher Lisa Zazzara.

"The team played really well – our goalie, Nicole Pitre, was injured again, so Joanie Weaver filled in and did really well," Zazzara said on Monday, adding they had some breaks and some good shots off the cross bar, but "nothing went in."

"I'm so proud of the team – we were second in the Division."

What type of entertainment would you like to see offered at the new Rotary bandshell in Prospect Park?

Alison McCallum, Acton
"I think they should have an evening of music in the park like they do in Oshawa where I grew up. Everybody comes out to see whatever kind of music is being played – it becomes a place to socialize."

Lisa Busby, newer Acton resident, not aware of bandshell
"I think it would be nice to have bands, different types of music for people to enjoy – everything from garage bands for the kids to jazz or anything, really."

Steve Ross, newer Acton resident, not aware of bandshell
"I'd like to see variety – there's different ages and you'd need to cover it all. You'd need certain nights for the younger crowd."

Chris Lawson, Acton
"Family events would be great – maybe plays for the kids and different types of entertainment. Music and theatre would bring us to the park."
