Investigation Branch is leading the investigation conducted by members of the County of Wellington OPP Crime Unit and OPP West Region Criminal Operations. Police are asking that anyone with information regarding this investigation contact the County of Wellington OPP Rockwood office at 519-856-1506.

rs. Boarder is currently in custody and will appear for a bail hearing on September 13 at 2 PM at the Ontario Criminal Court of Justice in Guelph. An autopsy was conducted in Hamilton but the cause of death has not been released and no other details are available. Cloes says such information is evidence in nature, and therefore is restricted while the case is before the courts. He adds that there is no concern for public safety.

Tony Boarder had a violent, criminal past. In 1987, he was convicted of manslaughter and served eight years in prison. He strangled to death 19-year old Susan Porter of Rockwood. Her body was discovered in a shallow grave on November 15, 1985, in a conservation area south of Guelph with handcuffs attached to her wrist. The girl knew her killer, as his brother was married to her sister. Porter had gone missing over the Labour Day weekend after leaving her sister's home with plans to visit a friend and go to the Guelph Farmer's Market. Boarder was arrested in June 1986 at his apartment in Guelph that he shared with his girlfriend.

In 1994, two years after his release from prison, Boarder was charged with aggravated sexual assault. The charge was dismissed in court after the complainant claimed she had consented to having a plastic bag placed over her head and being choked during sexual activity.

Danville – Wallace neighbours hold neighbourhood party

The home of Angela and Brian Blackwood on Dairy Drive, Acton echoed with the sounds of many hammers at work last Saturday morning, as parents assisted their children in the building of bird houses for the natural open space adjacent to their homes. With materials donated by Leathertown Lumber, Mr. Blackwood oversaw the building of the 25 bird boxes, autographed by the children and placed in the open space at key points.

Other neighbours joined in to help with the planting of native trees and shrubs such as spruce, cedar and silver maple in order to improve the natural environment. A new trail constructed by the Town this summer from Danville Avenue to Dr. Moore Court has formalized the link through the area, and will benefit from the additional plantings done over the weekend. Despite the dry conditions and summer-like heat, residents persevered to install around 90 trees and shrubs.

"It's great to see so many neighbours out working together" said Mayor Rick Bonnette. "I'm pleased to see residents taking an active part in programs like this, and appreciate the efforts of the neighbours and staff who worked together to make it a real success."

The neighbourhood party was a result of discussions last year when future plans for park development in Acton were presented to the public. The planting and bird house installation supplement trail and playground projects that have been installed in the area in 2006 and 2007.
