Village by Arboretum for Acton proposed by Acton East Housing

A submission from the Acton East Housing Corporation to develop an affordable plan for seniors housing in Acton along the lines of the 'Village by the Arboretum' in Guelph was among submissions heard by Halton Hills Council at their meeting on the Sustainable Halton Plan.

The plan would have a broad mix of housing ranging from rental apartments to condos, town homes, small single family units and includes a large multi-unit complex that could involve recreation and long term care options. It would be built in Acton East where Acton East Housing has 150 acres ready for development but now hampered by Greenbelt and water restrictions.

"Specific to our property which extends along the current eastern urban boundary of the Acton area, in the approval of our development by the Town we were required to provide access routes for roads to tie the adjoining area into the existing urban area. Halton Hills Hydro also required us to build in capacities to service this area," the submission stated. "The storm water pond facility was designed to accommodate this future development. Clearly, development to the east has been both preferred and contemplated.'

The submission suggested that lands in the former Beardmore property which lie within Acton's urban boundaries are unsuitable for housing could be swapped in the Greenbelt plan for their land.

"Acton is the only area within Halton that can be developed properly and uniquely as a haven for Halton's growing senior population," the submission reads. The plan would see housing built to service the expanding needs in North Halton, offering worry free lifestyle and a wide range of amenities, allowing people to stay in their own community.

"Acton is a unique community within Halton and the GTA," the submission states and it has very real needs which must be addressed on a comprehensive basis under the umbrella of Sustainable Halton," the submission stated.
