Adult day program celebrates 20 years

The Adult Day Program, located at Allendale in Milton, is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year

The Adult Day Program currently provides service for 70 north Halton residents five days a week, Monday to Friday, and includes both the Milton Place and Friends Landing programs. The anniversary celebration coincides with Adult Day Program Week, as designated by the Ontario Community Support Association.

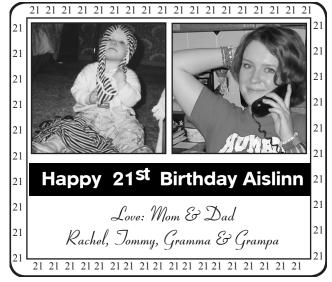

The Adult Day Program began 20 years ago, located in the former Halton Centennial Manor Long Term Care Home. Opening its doors in January, 1987, the day program offered an opportunity for seniors and adults with disabilities in Milton and area to attend a therapeutic and social program among their peers. At that time, the program accommodated 12 participants a day.

With the reconstruction of Halton Centennial Manor in 1992 and the transition to Allendale, the program was expanded to accommodate 20 north Halton residents and a new program, Friends Landing.

Friends Landing is a Dementia specific program that can accommodate up to eight participants. Both programs continue to flourish, providing a structured environment. Adult day programs also have the benefit of being a relief to many caregivers.
