Fire Report

Faulty detectors
Malfunctioning smoke alarms kept Acton firefighters busy on Sunday, beginning at 12:46 a.m. when they responded to an alarm activation call at 333 Queen Street. They quickly determined that the smoke detector was faulty.

Later that afternoon at 3:17 p.m., firefighters responded to an alarm activation at an apartment building at 192 Churchill Rd. South. They found that a smoke detector on the third floor had malfunctioned.

At 10:29 that night, an Acton crew responded to a reported carbon monoxide alarm activation at 340

Main St. North. When firefighters arrived they found that it was the smoke alarm that had sounded, for no apparent reason.

Faulty heater
Firefighters administered first aid to a Turtle Lake Drive homeowner who was showing signs of carbon monoxide poisoning when they arrived at the residence at 9:10 on Saturday night. A check of the house detected levels of carbon monoxide that were caused by a malfunctioning water heater.

At 10:44 p.m., reports of a carbon monoxide alarm sent Acton firefighters to 50 Rosemary Road. They checked the residence, but found no evidence of the deadly gas.

Letters

To the Editor,

Halton's historic "Scotch Block," tucked in the south west of the former Esquesing Township since 1820 and now shared by Halton Hills and Milton, has fascinating tales to tell.

In trying to assemble the many facets, to preserve them for future generations, the help of all is invited. We're looking for early letters of the first settlers, details of school construction, changes affecting the lumbering and agriculture of the area, social events, photographs of common activities or groups and stories and photos of the people over the generations.

Boston Church, on the Third Line, is at the heart of the "Scotch Block." We invite anyone who has information, early letters or photos they will loan to contact us there on Saturday October 4 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

If this is not possible feel free to contact us by phone 905-878-6061 so we can arrange to meet. We want to be able to tell as much as possible in a book about "The Block" and your help is essential now.
