Operation Impact will Save Lives

The OPP is taking its campaign to reduce unnecessary carnage on Ontario highways national by teaming up with police services across the country on the Thanksgiving long weekend.

Operation Impact is a Canada-wide traffic initiative aimed at saving lives and reducing serious injuries on our roads by increasing public awareness and compliance with traffic safety laws. This national road safety initiative begins tomorrow (Friday) and runs to Monday.

The OPP will continue its focus on impaired driving; aggressive driving; and improper or no restraint use because these "big three" factors continue to be the leading causes of serious injuries and death in motor vehicle collisions.

The other part of this national initiative includes an education campaign, where OPP officers will raise public's awareness to recent changes in traffic legislation, including distracted driving laws.

Frontline OPP officers will be out in force and highly visible on the Thanksgiving weekend adopting a zero tolerance level for any form of irresponsible driving. OPP officers will be utilizing all available resources, including the OPP aircraft, to do their part to make Canada's roads and highways among the safest in the world.

- So far this year:
- 243 people have lost their lives in motor vehicle collisions on OPP patrolled roadways, in comparison to 236 in 2009.
 - Twenty four people have died in marine related incidents to date this year in OPP patrolled waterways as opposed to 30 in 2009.
 - Twelve people have died in off-road related crashes to date this year in OPP patrolled jurisdictions as opposed to 20 in 2009.
 - Three-quarters of people ejected from vehicles die- seatbelts offer the best protection against ejection.
