Plenty of Choice

If the election date is not soon announced the parties and platforms facing the electors will soon be so numerous and confusing that the electorate will scarcely know how to vote in the best interests of the country as a whole. The announcement this week that Hon. H. H. Stevens will lead a new party follows on last week's rumors of a national party, and in the meantime we still have both old parties, with their followers. And, of course, there is still the C. C. F. in the field somewhere. Troublesome times surely bring a wide selection of individual corrective remedies. Some of them may be good-not all of them can be. It is a time for serious thought and not for grasping at cure-alls that promise immediate relief. The causes of present conditions are brought on by no immediate illness. It will take time to effect a cure with any degree of permanency. The electorate will be offered a wide variety when the election date is announced, and no doubt after a period of analysis will choose well. Facilities of the day allow for plenty of opportunity of enlighten-

There has been quite a flood of protest regarding the increase in the tax on amusements, to be used for relief purposes. Most of the protest has come from amusement institutions, organizations, etc., who are undoubtedly being affected some in the attendance. We do not like it now, nor never were we enthusiastic over it. Neither do we like the excise stamp, or any other of the bothersome taxes we are called upon to pay these days. The call for contributions to carry on even local relief became so burdensome to many that the past year the only retreasury. Amusements are not a life neccesity and it would seem more sensible to levy the tax here than on sugar and other commodities. If we can afford our amusements we can surely afford to make a condown and out and in need of relief. The Bowmanville Statesman puts the situation pretty plainly, and gives some real food for thought when it says: "It would seem only fair that if the church wants to enter the amusement business, it should abide by the rules that govern that industry. We have decried the fact on numerous occasions that the church has entered the amusement field, and by amusement we include concerts, shows, garden parties, suppers and the like. That type of thing belongs legitimately to the man who is making his living from that business. The church's business primarily is to preach the gospel and set an example. If in the course of this work it does not impress upon its members and adherents the necessity of supporting the church by free-will offerings with no strings attatched, then there must be something wrong with the work."
