Personals

Miss Knapp, of Galt, was the guest of Miss M. Z. Bennett on Monday. Miss Margaret Lasky was visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. Wells in Toronto. Mrs. S. Duffield, of Etobicoke, visited the Misses Ramshaw during the week. Miss Mary E. Macpherson, R. N., of Waverly, N. Y., is holidaying at her home here. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. Wallace and Miss Dorothy Wallace, visited Acton relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cooper, of Toronto, are holidaying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cooper. Miss Jessie Young, nurse-in-training at Toronto General Hospital, is holidaying at her home here. Mrs. D. D. Morrison has returned home from a pleasant holiday spent at Montreal and eastern points. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wallace and children, of London, visited at the home of her mother, Mrs. B. H. Wilson, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Roy McIntosh, of Ottawa, visited on Tuesday at the parental home, with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McIntosh. Misses Nellie Young, Laura and Winifred Field have returned after spending a very enjoyable week at Huntsville and Lake of Bays. Mrs. W. J. Boyd, of Winnipeg, who has been spending several months in England, spent last week with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bailey.

R. K. Sandwell, editor of Saturday Night, was the guest speaker at the luncheon. His subject was "Readers and How to Stop Them." Five addresses, and every one of them packed full. We won't attempt to report them. We didn't take a single note. We absorbed all of them which we were capable. It was part of the educational section of the program, and of a very high order. Thursday afternoon a motor drive about Toronto, provided by the Kiwanis Club, and thence again to the wharf for a view of the Toronto Harbor, aboard the Dalhousie City, as guests of the City of Toronto. Explained by the officials on board, it was most interesting. The coal and oil docks, with the vessels unloading and the mammoth supplies in storage. It would seem that sufficient coal was on hand to meet any emergency in these big yards. Then out of the canal again and around the island and back to the wharf. Just before landing a lot of the boat's whistle brought the life saving and police boats out from their moorings to show their capabilities and the Roulie, ice-breaker and fire tug put on a demonstration of its capabilities in coping with any ice on the waterfront. There wasn't any ice to demonstrate its other capabilities. Then to the Royal Canadian Yacht Club by this club's private launches, and afternoon tea at this beautiful clubhouse as guests of the Toronto Daily Star. A group photograph at these grounds was also a feature of the gathering. Delightful? Yes. The clubhouse rose gardens, and grounds are in a beautiful setting. It's pleasant to have an opportunity of seeing spots like it. That evening a supper dance at the Royal York culminated the activities of another busy day. We supposed, but as usual, didn't dance. Saturday morning's session got under way shortly after nine o'clock, with two more splendid addresses. Miss Margaret Brown, Secretary-Treasurer of "Marketing," gave a very interesting talk on the subject, "What the Woman Reader Expects in her Local Weekly Newspaper." Mr. Thomas Bradshaw followed, speaking on the subject, "The Relationship of the Press to Municipal Affairs," and from his fund of intimate knowledge we learned plenty of municipal affairs in Ontario. A Question Box, conducted by Editor George James, of Bowmanville; the reports of Nominating and Resolutions Committees; the presentation of Sheffield plate to the retiring President, Mr. Adam Sellar, and the introduction of the new President, Mr. Charles Barber, of Chilliwack, B. C., made a rather full morning session. It was remarkable, however, how President Sellar and the new Managing Director, Mr. C. V. Charters, of Brampton, could keep things moving along on schedule and make all planned possible of fulfillment. Saturday luncheon was featured by "Something Sketchy," by Mr. Gregory Clark and Mr. Jimmy Price, of the Toronto Star Weekly. Mr. Clark talked while Mr. Price drew. Of course it was good. We had planned to be home early, following the luncheon. Our plans didn't work. Appointment to the directors of the Association necessitated remaining for the meeting of the Board of Directors. Tired, yes, but these convention days of newspaper men provide a great opportunity to accumulate something of benefit in our work, which may be passed on in our discussion of various endeavors and an opportunity to view some things that, while close at hand, are often not viewed. The following are the officers for 1935-36 of the Association: President—Charles A. Barber, the Progress, Chilliwack, B. C. 1st Vice-President—L. J. Bennett, the Leader, Carman, Man. 2nd Vice-President—Geo. W. James, the Statesman, Bowmanville, Ont. Honorary Vice-Presidents—Current Prize Winners—Chas. W. Acton Wins First of Play-off Games

(Continued from Page One) assaults, or errors. That is one for the book. "Bud" Morton was the umpire-in-chief for the day. He got along all right, but if the game had meant anything, we imagine there would have been a lot of arguments. ACTON 7 — GEORGETOWN 0. Acton went to town on Saturday in the first game of the play-offs and handed Georgetown a 7-0 kalsomning. Acton played the ball they are capable of and gave Norm Morton a tight support. He held the visitors to five scattered singles, while twelve hits clicked off the Acton bats from the combined efforts of Walters and McMahon. Only twenty-nine men faced Norm in the nine innings, just two more than three men an innings. The first and last were the only frames when more than three men came to bat. Bob Anderson did his part by cutting three men off at second base in attempted steals. The small play-off crowd on hand saw Acton play the best game of hand they have done in a good many years. Everyone on the team was a star. Walters started on the hill-top for the visitors, but he didn't meet with much success. He only lasted until the second, when he was replaced by McMahon, and "Lefty" pitched until the eighth, when "Pat" again took possession of the pitching duties, but neither one of them could stop Acton. The Paper Boys got two men on in the first. A Ritchie drew a walk, but got out trying to steal second. Woods then got a single, but was left on base, as the next two men were retired. Acton scored the bases in the first inning, with one man out, but couldn't score a run. Terry fled out; "Minute" singled, and Holloway drew a walk. Bill Waterhouse then fiddled everybody by placing a perfect bunt down the third base line, to lead the bases. But no runs came. In the second, Georgetown went down, one, two, three, but Acton kept smacking the ball. Terry proved the hero of this inning by knocking a triple with two men on bases. He also scored on "Minute's" double, to bring Acton's total to three runs, and Walters gave way to McMahon, who retired the side without any further scoring. One single was all the home team could get in the third, and they were then held hitless until the sixth. Georgetown was having little success with the bickery, and the Acton fielders were nabbing everything and looked like a million dollars. Chaplin got a single in the sixth, but Norm caught him flat-footed when he tried to steal third. Two singles, a walk and an error gave Acton another counter in the sixth, and left the bases loaded for the second time. The seventh inning produced the most sensational play of the day. Woods, for Georgetown, got a single. Then McMahon fanned, bringing Georgetown's "Bambino," Beaumont, to bat. He smashed one that looked like a sure home-run, and Woods started for second. But Bill Waterhouse went after the ball and, leaning over the fence, nabbed it with one hand. Then, to complete it, he made a perfect throw to first, to get a stellar double play. Holloway never had to move an inch to catch the ball. Waterhouse got a great hand from the crowd. Acton scored another run in the seventh, and the bases were left loaded for the third time. Ward got on base for Georgetown in the eighth, but he tried to steal second, and Bob Anderson took good care of him. The locals started hammering McMahon in the eighth, and Holloway, the first man up, knocked out a triple. This was followed by a perfectly placed hit in left field by Bill Waterhouse, scoring Holloway. Anderson then hit a perfect double-play ball to McMahon, but he made a bad throw to second, leaving everybody safe. Bill Waterhouse then scored Acton's final run when Anderson went out on a runner's choice. This finished Acton's scoring. Georgetown threatened to rally in the ninth, when L. Ritchie walked, Walters popped out to Norm, and L. Ritchie was then thrown out a second on a fielder's choice, leaving A. Ritchie on first. Woods then came through with his third hit of the day, to Bill Waterhouse, and Bill finished the game up when he made another perfect peg, to third base, and Molozzie made no mistake in tagging Ritchie out. EVERYBODY ON THE TEAM WAS A STAR ON SATURDAY. Starting at the top, Terry cleared the bases with a triple in the second, with two on, and drew three walks in a row. Walters had three hits out of five, including a double and fiddled a very nice game. Holloway played well, having eleven put-outs. He caught a couple of hard foul flies, and also knocked out a three-bagger. Anderson threw three of the fastest men Georgetown have out at second base. Fred Waterhouse took good care of the short-stop position, and had three put-outs. "Lefty" Morton held the shaggers to five singles, and fiddled a wonderful game, with 7 assists, and 3 put-outs. Jack Waterhouse did a good job in right field. He dropped one fly ball, but made up for it when he pulled down a hard smash to right field. Molozzie, last on the list, came through wonderful for his first full game. He only handled two balls in the field, but he sure knew what to do with them. At bat he came through with two singles, driving in two runs. George has now played second base, short-stop and third. He's sort of utility infielder.

No, we haven't forgotten Bill Waterhouse, but he deserves special mention. That catch was sensational, and the throw to first couldn't have been done any better by any fielder in any league, amateur or pro. This is nothing new for Bill, either. He always had a good arm, and if the ball is hit anywhere near him in centre field, it is a sure out.

Joe Keane and some other members of his Incocks watched the game, and got an eyeful of the team they have to beat for the championship. Besides pitching, Norm Morton does his share of the fielding. In five games he has had 13 put-outs and 27 assists. Not bad going for a pitcher.

Thursday night, in Georgetown, is the second game. We doubt if the series will go three games.

POLAND'S SALT MINES

Visitors to Poland return greatly impressed with the salt mines. For more than ten centuries miners toiled in the salt shafts near Cracow, Poland, and being deeply religious, they spent their spare time in carving marvellous figures in salt. A complete cathedral, containing giant chandeliers, beautiful statues of the saints, altars and other biblical figures and objects, is one example of the workers' skill. On fast days of modern times, Mass is held in the underground cathedral. Among the statues is that of the Virgin. In one part of the mine a giant statue and a beautiful hall appear, monuments to the devotion of the miners.
