And, having thus outlined my plight, My teeth are gone. No more can I Deal roughly with a Northern Spy. To eat at all is quite a chore. With porcelain 'round my oral floor Sure is my bite worse than my bark. And every night my get I park. In "Junkies" and all downstairs tread With aching gums and stealthy tread In milk to maul a bit of bread. Oh, why did I, a dentist seek To find my jaw with pus areek? He whispered "It's pyogenes. Or streptococcus; each of these Could be your daily over-night. And, having thus outlined my plight, He sunk a syringe in my jaw With novocain anbrimming o'er. And said "You tell me if it fits." Then promptly afloat the blasted works. Soon after, fitted with a denture, I sailed forth to meet adventure. Though when I show my latest grin I'm sure no one is taken in. That's why I chew without compression And have to eat with discretion. The suitable kinds of hash and stew, Slum gullion, custard, mush and goo. Then turned he all, by my cool fate. Have orho done t'yer, 'er 'is too late! This warning tale, Linsay Crossley.

DESSERTS FOR TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW CAN BE ECONOMICALLY MADE TOGETHER

Here's an idea to tempt any thrifty housewife. Desserts for both to-day and to-morrow may be made from one can of sweetened condensed milk by easy, short-cut and economical recipes. The two desserts can be made in half an hour and put in the refrigerator to chill. Cream Peach Cake until dinner time to-day, Pineapple Cream for dinner to-morrow.

CREAM PEACH CAKE

- 1 cup sweetened condensed milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
Few drops almond extract
2 cups fresh peaches, crushed
1 sponge cake or 2 sponge layers

Blend together sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, salt and almond extract. Stir until mixture thickens. Fold in the crushed filling between the two parts, or spread between sponge layers. Sprinkle the top with powdered sugar. Serve with whipped cream if desired.

PINEAPPLE CREAM

- 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
3 cups marshmallows cut in eighths before measuring
2 cups crushed pineapple
1 cup water

Blend thoroughly sweetened condensed milk, finely cut marshmallows, crushed pineapple, which has been drained, water, and finely chopped nut meats. Chill in refrigerator for 12 hours, or longer. Serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with maraschino cherries. Serves 10.

PREPARE FOR PICNICS

Summer hospitality and summer picnics are sometimes impractical, dependent on the weather man and his verdict of "rain or shine." If it's a porch party, you want something to serve with the cold drinks. If it's a picnic, you need something to satisfy the sweet tooth. Make up some Chocolate Walnut Dolls on baking day and tuck them away in the cozy jar. Then if the sun comes out at the last minute you are ahead with preparations.

CHOCOLATE WALNUT DOLLARS

- 2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup softened butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and cinnamon, and sift again. Combine butter, sugar, egg and chocolate, beating thoroughly; add nuts and vanilla. Add flour, alternately with milk, mixing well. Place on waxed paper and shape in rolls, 2 inches in diameter; roll each in waxed paper. Chill overnight, or until firm enough to slice. Cut in 1/2-inch slices; bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 8 minutes. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

Certain morbid conditions must exist in the stomach and intestine to unchole worms, and they will exist as long as these morbid conditions permit them to. To be rid of them and spare the child suffering, use Miller's Worm Powders. They will correct the digestive irregularities by destroying the worms, conditions favorable to worms will disappear, and the child will have no more suffering from that cause.

ALL ALIKE!

Cholly-You are not like other girls!
Bess-I know that!
Cholly-You are higher, purer, sweeter, more benign!
Bess-I know that!
Cholly-To himself-By love, they are all alike!

THE OLD MAN OF THE BIG CLOCK TOWER

HOME

Home from the world again, out of all sneering, Home, where there's naught but love blended in the cheering. Shut the door and draw the blinds! Now the day is fading. I can be myself awhile, done with sordid trading. Home from the busy world, out of all the hating. Out of all the bitterness, the long and anxious waiting. Home to hear the kettle sing, and hear the children chatter. Home where there is none to scorn, none to fawn and flatter. Home from the crowded streets, out of all the scheming. Home where no selfish strife spoils our idle dreaming. Men in every market place are merely money changers; Shut the door and draw the blinds! Here there are no strangers. I shall fare to fight again. Day shall bring its battle. Thank the Lord for night and home and the children's prattle. Here I drop my armor cold, and enter into gladness. Home from the surging world and out of all the madness. -Edgar A. Guest.

Late August and cooler days remind me that another change of season is at hand. Corn on the cob, that folks my age have to take off the cob to really enjoy, is also another pointer to the fall season and the times when a corn roast used to be popular and still is, and the fire doesn't feel so bad on a cool evening. Perhaps it was the season that made me select the poem for this week. At any rate, home is a great place just now.

I've been following the elections with a lot of interest as always. Seems as if we don't change our methods very much. There are the two old parties who seem to swing along always and the occasional up-cropping of a new party to save the country. It's been that way ever since I can remember, and I guess long before that. Last year the C. C. P. seemed to be up at the peak, and this year it looks like a race between the Reconstructionists and the Social Credit believers. They all seem to be good on promises but when power is secured it usually turns out that they are all bound by certain limits. But aw chuck! You'll vote your way and I'll vote mine, and we may both be wrong, but at least don't let any of us get so warmed up that we say or do things to spoil friendships. So just let us take a peek for now at the things which interested fifty years ago and were told of in the local news of Acton and district. "Paring bees will soon be in order among our farm friends." "Rev. W. S. McTavish, of Nasagaweyn, has received a call from the Presbytery of Paris. The stipend promised is $800, with a Manse and one month's holidays." "Messrs. A. & J. Mann threshed last Wednesday for Mr. J. Bradby, of Georgetown, 931 bushels of wheat in 9 hours and 15 minutes. This is a great record for a single day's threshing." "A splendid pit of gravel was found in the new land purchased for cemetery purposes." "Mr. J. S. Deacon, of Woodstock, has been chosen by the County Council as Public School Inspector for Itallon. It required five ballots by the Council to make the decision." "Trop picking commenced on Monday. The crop is not more than an average one in this vicinity." "The voters' list for 1935 has been printed and is in the hands of the Clerk. There are 261 male voters and 39 ladies on the list." "Steve Galbraith has turned up again in the newspaper rants. He is now proprietor of the Wingham Times." "The Advocate is a new journalist candidate for public favor in Perth." "The staff of 'The Free Press' desire to express their thanks to Mrs. John

SPLEIGHT FOR A BASKET OF SPLENDID RED ASTRACHAN APPLES

"On Saturday Mr. John Bennett was badly bruised when the horse, he was driving bolted and he was thrown over the dashboard and dragged a considerable distance."

"Another team, owned by Dr. Prossman, of Georgetown, injured the man who was driving them when they became frightened by a train at the G. N. R. crossing."

The White Oaks, of Oakville, were defeated in a ball game here by Acton by a score of 15-12, and the Acton Club still held the championship of the County.

No doubt you would all like to know the ball teams of 1885, so here are the teams—Storey, Henry, Dhillon, White, Wilds, Kelly, Ramshaw, Marlett and Lee; Oakville—Ward, Coty, N. Wardell, Cornwall, Kelly, T. Wardell, Tuck, Williams, and Buzzard.

The self-blinder has been brought to such perfection by the various manufacturers that they are now coming into very general use. On Friday the "Minnesota Chief" was used to cut a field of oats on the farm of Mr. Alex. Mann, and did highly satisfactory work. On Saturday the "Junior" blinder, made by Harris Son & Co., of Bradford, cut a field of oats on the farm of Mr. Robert Warren, and did a real good job in spite of the fact that the grain was lying flat.

The Prohibition Camp at Milton had drawn quite an attendance. Perhaps I had better explain to some of the younger folk that this camp featured addresses and sermons of a character to encourage and help temperance workers in their fight against the liquor interests. Of course the Scott Act was the prohibitory measure of '85.

But I must cease for this week.

The Family Physician—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

THE OLD MAN

DISTRICT BANDS

Again to be heard at Fair—Western Fair, London, to have Music from Five Different Bands

Those who missed the band music at the Western Fair in recent years, will be delighted to hear that this old-time popular innovation of the London exhibition has again become a feature, and five bands of the district will give prolonged band concerts on every day of the Fair. The bands featured are: Elgin Regiment Band, St. Thomas; Forest Boys' Band; Petrolia Citizens' Band; Middlesex Light Infantry Band; Strathroy; and Fustlers' and Veterans' Bands, of London.

Sped events, always popular at London, have a further incentive this year with the largest purses ever offered by the Western Fair. In every live stock department there is a revival of interest. Junior Clubs are given special attention with major events, including individual calf competitions, inter-club competition, cattle showmanship competition, live stock judging competition, etc. Women's and Girls' Club have additional competitions and the Women's Institutes' Exhibit and Competition will play a big part in the 1935 Exhibition.

Inside Judging—The building a few years ago of the Ontario Arena, the last unit in a small city of exhibition buildings, has made it possible for practically all the judging to be done indoors and at almost any time of the day interested visitors will find activity in the tan bark ring and can sit in comfortable ring-side seats that are pyramid around the arena. It is here also that the night horse events are held and that year again the horse show will be held for four nights of the fair.

Popular Midway—The Rublin and Cherry Shows, with their highly entertaining sideshows, educational many of them, and their wide diversity of rides, came again to London to provide the midway.

The Grandstand performance is always a feature at London, and a most attractive program has been arranged this year, featuring a stage revue which is complete in scenery, lighting effects, costumes and with a large cast of singers, dancers and comedians, many with Broadway reputations.

Flower Show Featured—The Flower Show, held in connection with the Western Fair, is to be a big feature again this year. Ample space is provided for the lovely exhibits that amateur and professional horticulturists arrange for this event, and two flower shows are again being held this year, assuring fresh blooms throughout the week.

The Dog Show will again attract winners of note from all parts of Canada and several entries have also been received from the United States.

Art Exhibit—The smallest building on the grounds holds the greatest attraction for many Western Fair visitors—the Art Building. This year many wonderful pictures from some of the best art galleries in the world will be hung and paintings worth thousands of dollars will be a feature of the exhibition.

As a grand finale on Saturday night a special fireworks display has been arranged. This feature will be before the grandstand, but a great deal of it can be viewed from other parts of the grounds.

Mothers can easily know when their children are troubled with worms, and they lose no time in applying a reliable remedy—Mother Graves' Worm Expeller.

DOMINION EXPERIMENTAL FARMS

Weekly News Letter

Deterioration of Dressed Poultry

Studies concerning the deterioration of dressed poultry by the Division of Bacteriology, in co-operation with the Poultry Division of the Central Experimental Farm, have yielded some interesting facts. Over 175 birds, stored for different periods up to 8 weeks, have been examined to date, and the results indicate the importance of bacterial growth on the skin surface as a factor in determining keeping quality. Under practical conditions the spoilage organisms are invariably present on the skin of a freshly dressed bird. Since these can grow at storage temperatures, there is a limit beyond which spoilage cannot be avoided. At 30 degrees F. the maximum safe period is about 5 weeks, while at 32 degrees F. it is a week shorter. This applies only to birds receiving careful and sanitary treatment. Where this is neglected the length of the period of safe storage may be greatly shortened, and may result in considerable financial loss.

Protecting Potatoes from Injury

Observations made on the Dominion Experimental Farms have demonstrated convincingly that potatoes produced on wet land develop a tender skin and are more subject to injury when dug. Potatoes produced under such conditions, therefore, should be handled very carefully. While potatoes grown in dry soil are less liable to injury, they are often injured through the fact that this type of soil is not carried over the digger. To compensate this disadvantage, when elevator diggers are used sufficient soil should be taken up to prevent the tubers coming into direct contact with the moving parts of the machine.

GOLD MINING REVIEW

Gold mining was the outstanding feature in Canada's mining activities in 1934. Production of new gold from all sources in the Dominion amounted to 2,972,074 fine ounces valued at $61,438,220, compared with an output of 2,049,309 fine ounces, valued at $60,067,620 in 1933, gold being valued at $20.671934 per fine ounce. However, the average price in Canadian funds of gold in 1934, based on the average prices paid by New York or London, was $34.50 as against $28.60 in 1933, or in other words the value of the 1934 Canadian gold production amounted in Canadian funds to $102,535,553 as against $58,450,237 in 1933. The quantity of gold recovered in 1934 represents an increase of .8 per cent. over the preceding year, but the value of production, in Canadian funds, realized a 21.6 per cent. gain.

Ontario led the gold parade with a production of 2,105,339 fine ounces, followed by Quebec with 390,097 fine ounces, British Columbia 296,106 fine ounces, Manitoba 133,321, Yukon Territory 38,798, Saskatchewan 5,405, Nova Scotia 3,525 and Alberta 393 fine ounces. The higher price, prospecting for gold deposits was most active throughout the year. In the vicinity of the older and well-established camps prospects which lay dormant for years were revived, and promising new areas were investigated in different parts of Canada, resulting in the discovery and development of new mines. These developments are of great economic importance and have given to gold mining a status comparable with those of the great basic industries of the nation.

Mining stock prices advanced rapidly during the first quarter of 1934, and were fairly steady during the second and third quarters. They declined rather sharply during October and November, but advanced moderately in December. An index of gold stock prices showed a net increase for the year of roughly 24 per cent. Gold stocks continued to advance for six months after prices for gold itself had ceased to rise, and similarly the total appreciation in gold stock prices, since the mint par of $20.67 per ounce was abandoned, has been very much greater than the currency premium established on gold.

THE WEATHER FORECAST

The first official storm warning was printed by daily papers just seventy-three years ago. And how the seafarers scowled when it proved accurate! The official responsible for such a daring commitment was Admiral Fitzroy, who, as first director of the Meteorological Department, then under the control of Board of Trade, deserves to be remembered as the father of the weather forecast.

He evolved the system of collecting and collating reports from a number of scattered sources. Whereas the modern forecaster is kept in touch with conditions all over the world, he received but five reports from abroad, and these were usually a day or two late! Fitzroy came to an untimely end; overwork drove him to suicide in April, 1865. He left behind him a mass of valuable data on weather observations at sea.

HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh boiling water. After six minutes strain liquid into two-quart container. While hot, add 1 1/2 cups of granulated sugar and the juice of 2 lemons. Stir well until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water; otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chopped ice.

Making hay while the sun shines—In September!

Western Ontario Farmers will be "making hay" this September when they visit the Western Fair. They will be eager to take the opportunity of enjoying a really exciting holiday and at the same time learn what's new in the agricultural and industrial worlds. You're assured of the ultimate in entertainment at the Western Fair—brilliant Midway, Grandstand Show, Horse Races, Band Concerts, Night Horse Show, magnificent displays, art gallery—scores of surprising, attractive features.

Plan now to "Make Hay"; come to the 1935 Western Fair Sept. 9-14. J. H. Saunders, President. W. D. Jackson, Secretary. WESTERN FAIR LONDON - ONTARIO
