GEORGETOWN

Georgetown Fire Brigade held its sixtieth annual ball and supper in the Arena on New Year's eve. When a record gathering enjoyed one of the best events in the history of the brigade.

THE LONGEST PLAY

Eugene O'Neill, who is working at a play in 30 acts, presumably hopes for a kinder reception of his work than was accorded another long-drawn-out dramatic experiment, "Oenah," by Edmund Falconera, produced at Her Majesty's Theatre, London, in 1886.

Intermediates and Juniors Win All

John found the sphere. Ward got right inside, but Greer saved again. Lindsay had a nice try and Anderson tried, and then passed out; goals were a minor quantity. Terry also had a nice shot. Mooney pegged away a couple of times, and "Bus" Morton tore in for tries. Play was in the Georgetown territory considerably in this period and the Georgetown team were tiring considerably under the hot pace set by the homesters.

With but two minutes to go, Morton Bros. and Mooney tore into Georgetown territory, and the goal that is now history, was scored. Georgetown now stormed the Acton goal, and, on a couple of rushes forced the Acton team to play hard; one shot found Greer out of his net, but it missed entirely. Another was cleared cleverly by the local goal, after hitting his pads.

Final score—Acton 1; Georgetown 0. No penalties. The line-up: Georgetown—Goal, Richardson; defence, Zimmer and Anthony; centre, Toat; wings, Ward and Sergeant; alternates, Duncan, Sleen, Horton, Hall. Acton—Goal, Greer; defence, Scott and Walters; centre, Terry; wings, Anderson and Lindsay; alternates, Marzo, N. Morton, Bus Morton and Mooney. Referee—Ernie Wortley, Toronto.

Score—Acton 3; Georgetown 0. Penalties—Acton, Brush and Bayliss. In stanza two, Eard turned it on from the start, and Wright saved. The period was young when Brush was sent to the cooler. Georgetown turned on the power, but could not score. Both goals were forced to turn back shots, but Wright was having plenty of work, and after five minutes of play, Lambert scored goal No. 3 in a scramble. Georgetown was really doing better in this period, but Acton really did look better by these three goals. Several minutes later Bayliss was again sent to the house-top, and Woods was called upon a couple of times to make stops. Wright made a beautiful stop on Eard's try. When the bell went, play was in Georgetown end of the arena.

Score—Acton 3; Georgetown 0. Penalties—Acton, Brush and Bayliss. The last frame found Acton still going good, especially at the opening, and pass play was just two minutes old when Brush scored goal 4 for the visitors, on a long shot. Play returned to Acton territory, and after a scramble, Georgetown was allowed their first goal, although there was a great deal of dissent on the part of the Acton goalies and team, who claimed the puck had never crossed the goal line. The referee, however, allowed the goal. This seemed to make Acton really provoked, and Blinco took a pass from Lambert for goal 5, at four minutes. Sanderson got goal 2 for Georgetown at 5 minutes, on a nice solo rush, beating Woods nicely. This seemed to give Georgetown heart and they sure gave all they had. Riddall scored the next two for Georgetown, one in a scramble, and the other on a solo try, beating Woods nicely. Things looked rather black for Acton, as Brush was now sent off by a wave from the referee, but they managed to stave off scoring until he returned. Play was getting rather rough, and tempers were getting rather on edge, the pace was also falling on both teams. Woods was called upon to make some good stops and was successful. Wright was not having it too easy, either, and at 18 minutes Brush got his third counter for Georgetown to take and a few seconds later Sanderson got his second goal of the frame. Riddall and Molozzie were banished to the cooler together, though both claimed they had done nothing wrong. Acton were successful in pulling the game out a win by keeping the Georgetown crew from scoring any further. These are simply high lights in this frame, there being numerous other good plays on both sides not given.

Final score—Acton 6; Georgetown 5. Penalties—Acton, Brush and Molozzie; Georgetown, Riddall. The line-up: Acton—Goal, Woods; defence, Gibbons and Armstrong; centre, Eard; wings, Molozzie and Eard; alternates, Blinco, Holmes, Lambert and Bayliss. Georgetown—Goal, Wright; defence, Duncan and Norton; centre, Bradley; wings, Sykes and Riddall; alternates, Sanderson, Weston and Marchant. Referee—Toat, Georgetown.

Any, it was a nice crowd. Wouldn't be surprised if Acton returned the compliment in the Georgetown arena. (Provided, of course, the ice isn't soft again.)

The Guelph boys slipped an unexpected win over the Oakville squad. And without a manager or coach, and not full team. Perhaps the Royal City crew might have been previously handicapped, by too much executive and instruction.

Oakville sports writers have been exceptionally quiet this week. There's a reason, we suppose.

Wouldn't surprise us a bit if it was Acton and Georgetown for the play-offs. Now, wouldn't that make the hearts of both Arena managements do a double-take action? The very idea is enough to bring on a crop of heart failures in both towns.

ACTON 6 - GEORGETOWN 5 On Friday evening the Acton Junior Hockey Team journeyed to Georgetown and took the Georgetown Junior puck-chasers to task by a 6-5 score. In the first two periods Acton outplayed Georgetown 3-0; but in the final period Georgetown turned it on, and just about succeeded in carrying the match into overtime.

In the final frame, the refereeing job by a local ref, looked rather one-sided, but enough said along that line. The Georgetown team were working under a handicap, being a player short throughout the game.

The Acton team certainly are much improved since their last game, which was played in Elora, and we should not be surprised if they gave these other teams a battle for top honors yet.

Almost from the face-off in the opening stanza Georgetown secured the puck and tried a shot at Woods, who saved. The ice was very bumpy, but there was no water on it, and it was fairly hard. The going was fast, considering the ice conditions. Acton stormed the opponents' goal, and Wright saved. Lambert had a couple of nice shots, but Wright saved. Acton were distinctly outplaying their opponents. Brush was going good for Acton. Woods was also playing nicely. Bayliss was sent to the penalty box. While he was off, Georgetown tried hard, and Woods was forced to save a couple of times and always obliged, being so inclined. Acton had a couple of shots that made the fans gasp. Riddall was banished, and then how Acton turned it on! On a couple of plays Georgetown were forced to make saves, but they did

OAKVILLE

One of Trafalgar's oldest residents, John McGowan, seventh line, Trafalgar, passed away at his home on Saturday, in his 90th year.

Rev. Canon D. Russell Smith had a narrow escape from possible injury on Friday when the car he was driving was struck by a trailer and badly damaged.

Tuesday night gave us the opportunity of taking our first peak at the 1936 Acton team, and it is our candid opinion that more will be heard of this squad before the curtain rings down on 1936 hockey.—Star.

Mrs. W. G. MacKendrick left this week for an extended trip to New Zealand. Over 100 attended the inaugural meeting of the Oakville branch of the Humane Society, held in the Council Chambers Tuesday evening.

Mr. James Hlakeck, who has been undergoing treatment in the Toronto General Hospital, returned to his home on Tuesday.

Harry Rottenburg, who according to his own testimony, never drives over the speed limit, paid $13.85, in Monday's court for the privilege of knocking seven posts out of the guard rails on the curve in the highway, near Appleby School.—Record.

NO BAD HABITS

When a young man has no bad habits it is said to be good; but that is only negative after all. The important question is: What good habits does he possess? What his qualities are so established in your character that you can count on them? Not to have any bad habits or any good one, either, means a lack of personality.

DOMINION EXPERIMENTAL FARMS Weekly News Letter

Head Canary Grass

The Division of Forage Plants has conducted experiments with head canary grass for many years. These tests have shown that it is a valuable grass to grow on land which becomes flooded with water for a time each season. It does not thrive where stagnant water lies on the land throughout the summer but it grows well with free water close to the soil surface. Head canary grass is most useful on land that is too wet for most other crops and especially on peaty and muck soils. Once head canary grass is established it will last for many years and may be cut for hay, or pastured. It spreads by underground stems and forms a good sod, but, unlike quack grass, it is fairly easy to eradicate. There is no danger that it will give trouble by spreading to the cultivated upland fields.

Grains for the Breeding Ewe In early winter, with hay supplying the bulky part of the ration, breeding ewes in good condition have very little need for grain. However, with mixed or grass hays, some protein-rich concentrate should be added. One-quarter to one-half a pound per day of a mixture of two parts oats and one part bran gives very good results. Oats are relished by sheep. They strengthen the ewe, while bran furnishes the protein needed to balance the ration in addition to assisting the digestive organs by its laxative qualities. Other grains, such as barley, corn, wheat and peas are fattening feeds and should not be used except in small quantities and for ewes that are in very poor condition. They should always be fed in combination with bran and oats to lighten the mixture.

Taking Stock The farmer who takes stock now and plans for his farming operations during the coming crop season will be able to order his fertilizers, spraying material, insecticides, etc., in good time. He will also be able to eliminate unprofitable hens, cows, and other animals and otherwise cut the cost of production.

CHARACTER MADE BY HARD THINGS No less a person than a former President of the United States has recently called attention to the fact that character is the product of hardships. Those hard times you grumble about may really do more for you than the years of prosperity when it is comparatively easy to obtain whatever you want.

Self-made men who have fought their way up to the top, struggling against every form of hardship are likely to resolve that their children shall have an easier time. The result is that their sons and daughters are frequently very worthless young people. They have been shielded from everything hard, and so they have remained undeveloped. Some of the hardships with which their fathers had to contend would have been the making of them. Some of you who are passing through difficult experiences and are tempted to whimper may find comfort in the thought that character is not made by ease but by hard things. Every hard experience met with faith and courage makes you finer and stronger.

THE LAPSE THAT MEANS DISASTER The other day the newspapers chronicled the death of a young man at the end of a motor trip of two thousand miles. He had crossed mountain ranges, met the hazards of slippery roads, and been imperilled by the carelessness of other drivers. Five miles from home his attention was distracted by the sight of an acquaintance in a passing car. He did not notice the changing lights, but shot ahead and crashed into a truck.

Some young people have an idea that occasional lapses on their part should be overlooked. If for most of the time they stand by their principles, they assume that a temporary lowering of their standards is unimportant. These brief lapses, however, mean the undoing of all they have accomplished by months of persistent effort and unwavering loyalty.

The difficulties this young motorist had encountered in his long drive meant nothing because in the end his attention wandered for a second. A day of folly, yes, an hour, may offset years of struggle. One unwise investment may dissipate a fortune that took a lifetime to accumulate. Guard against the moments when aspiration relaxes and principle seems unimportant, for those moments may be your undoing.
