WEALTH

Let wealth be regarded by any society as an end in itself, and that society shall be cursed and paralyzed alike in its wealth and in its poverty from top to bottom. Our own society is only not cursed so completely as it might be because there are luckily a considerable number of people of all classes in whom the instinct for a better life persist. But these are not sufficiently strong and self-consions to form a determining factor in the philosophy and politics of the nation. Let wealth be regarded by some society of the future as a mere means to the proper ends of human life and whether it is rich or poor on the whole, its wealth will be fairly disgroundhog could have seen his shadow. another great mine. A noted character, in the person of Mr. Noah Timmins, passed away during last week, while on a visit to Plorida for his health. He was credited by many with having contributed as much toward leveloping and attracting capital to northern gold resources of Canada as my man in the Dominion.

It. was through the efforts of Benny Hollinger, Alex. Gillies, the two Timmins brothers and a cousin that the world famous Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mine was found and worked.

This mine bears the name of the man who found it, and the town the name of Mr. Timmins, who was the means of providing capital. An interesting story is told of Noah Timmins making a hurrled trip to the Hollinger Mine by plane, and being comewhat excited, did not presence known to the staff. He went direct to the shaft house to go below. and the operator, not recognizing him, and mistaking him for a newspaper reporter, refused him admittance. A heated discussion took place, with Mr. Timmins the victor. He then called after his opponent, "Send that to your newspaper," and then went below.

I am often asked what the country is like where we moved from; and I, of course, make the description I give as interesting as possible.

I don't know whether it might be the means of some time increasing the population.

It was interesting to learn what Acton's population was, according to the last I wasn't aware that a loud speaker was a necessity for a hockey arena, and it doesn't seem very popular, according to comments. I always thought a good pair of eyes and a knowledge of the play was what a spectator most needed. Acton and Georgetown are still capable of providing lots of thrills as they always did. I watched them play away back in the days when we stood on the snow banks down in the hollow around the Beardmore rink. Cordially yours,

STUDY FLY'S COLOR PANCY

It's this way with flies-they'd rather sit on an orange than a cucumber, if the choice depends on color. Buch was the deduction announced at the University of California recently as a result of scientific observation of color preferences of multitudes of flies. A huge checkerboard with eleven-inch squares in various colors was hung up in a dalry barn of the university's college of agriculture. The flies were invited to come and make themselves at home. For three months this went on while Lester J. Berry, graduate student in charge of the experiment, and his aides kept watch. The tabulated results announced by Berry follow: Not less than 10572 Arrange apples in bottom of deep pie files parked on the orange square while light blue, 3,480 and white, 2,360. More

RAISING LOSE STICKINESS

Seeded muscat raisins are sticky, makit necessary for women to coat their hands with flour in order to handle them. The seeds that were removed were also sticky, and handling them was a messy job for the technical men in charge of the process.
