A NEW CANADIAN INDUSTRY

Among the outstanding developments which took place in mining circles in Canada during 1935 was the debut of a new Canadian mineral product in the form of rock wool. The manufacture of rock wool, one of the most effective insulating products on the market, got under way during the year, and the Department of Mines reports two plants in operation: both in Ontario, one at Thorold, and the other at Brantford. At the "Thorold" plant a "long-fibred" wool, having a density of from three to four pounds a cubic foot, is being produced, and the product made at Brantford is a standard, short-fibred rock wool, having a density of eight to ten pounds a cubic foot. Of special interest to the building trade, the establishment of the rock wool industry in Canada has resulted from successful experiments carried on in the laboratories of the Department of Mines. This work showed that large deposits of a special type of limestone discovered in the Niagara district of Ontario were suitable for the manufacture of the material, and indications are that the industry will reach large scale proportions. At present the greater part of the production from the two plants in operation is being used for building insulation. The field of uses for insulating products in Canada has excellent possibilities for expansion, as it is estimated that if all residential buildings in the Cities of Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton alone were properly insulated against heat losses, an annual saving of $7,000,000 in fuel bills would result. Rock wool has the advantage of being suitable for use both in new construction and in buildings already constructed. Large quantities of rock wool are used, as well, for industrial insulation and there are large opportunities for use in the sound-proofing of buildings and for the acoustical treatment of offices, theatres, auditoria, and radio studios.

MANUFACTURED FEEDS FOR LIVE STOCK

According to a recent survey, ready mixed feeds for live stock and poultry to the extent of 100,000 tons, with a value at the manufacturing point of $7,725,177, were purchased by Canadian farmers in 1934. Poultry feeds led all others in volume by a large margin, and accounted for about 70 per cent. of the total. Cattle feeds, principally for dairy cattle, came next, with 37,130 tons, followed by swine feeds with 10,262 tons and horse feeds with 4,228 tons. Sales of only 14 tons of sheep feeds were reported.

WRIGLEY'S PANORAMA OF THE AIR

Pioneers for many years in radio entertainment, Wrigley's this year are sponsoring an entirely new type of program, the kaleidoscope Panorama of the Air. Variety is its essence, each night the spotlight twists, turns and focuses on some new scene of life in Ontario. Believing that there is more real human interest in things and people near home than in more distant celebrities, Wrigley's bring to the microphone news and entertainment provided by our neighbors. It has been a pleasant surprise to thousands to discover how fascinating this news, and how distinguished much of the talent. Neither celebrity nor obscurity is a bar to this program. Some nights we hear world famous celebrities, others people who are completely unknown, but who may be celebrities some day. People of many nations have appeared, singers and musicians of many kinds, poets, artists and just plain people with something of human interest to record. Howard Lindsay, Master of Ceremonies was formerly one of the highlights of the Hart House Theatre productions. Not only did he act in many plays, but wrote a number of them himself. At one time he wrote the story, music and lyrics of an entire musical play, produced the play and acted in it. Mr. Lindsay has just the breath of interest and knowledge of humanity necessary to make this program an outstanding success.

FACTOGRAPHS

The U.S. bureau of education finds that swimming for women is required in many colleges and universities—part of the college work. Why is "Q" like the sun? Because it is the centre of light. Seedless raisins are made from four varieties of seedless grapes: Sultanina, sultana, black corinth, and white corinth. Florida's production of seedless oranges is very small, as the seedless orange is not adapted to Florida climate.

Chicks Shipped By Dog Sleigh

ONE of the earliest shipments of Bray Chicks this year, was made to Mr. A. M. Lambert, at Connaught, in Northern Ontario. That was the middle of January. On January 29th, Mr. Lambert wrote the following letter: "Dear Mr. Bray: The chicks arrived safely, all alive. Finished the last three and a half miles by dog sleigh at ten below zero. They sure look a fine healthy bunch and am well pleased." —A. M. Lambert.

If Bray Chicks will stand that kind of trip, without loss, it's a pretty good indication that Bray Chicks should be vigorous and healthy when delivered to YOU. They are sturdy and strong when hatched, and they are packed right for shipment. With reasonable care, they live, grow and thrive—and give a splendid account of themselves in the laying vigor. The secret of this inborn vigor and vitality of Bray Chicks lies in our rigid selection of breeding stock; our programme of blood-testing; our careful selection of hatching eggs; and our methods of incubation. Come in and let us give you complete details. Chicks for immediate delivery. Free feed or cash discount on orders booked now for later delivery.
