MR. G. T. COO SERIOUSLY ILL.

G. T. Coo is seriously ill as the result of a paralytic stroke and a fall. Descending the stairs of his home at Georgetown, Mr. Coo was struck and fell down some six steps to the floor. He was attended by Dr. A. McAllister, who pronounced the aged man's condition critical. Mr. Coo, in his 86th year, lost his sight a score of years ago, when he had been station agent for the C.N.R. at Elmehouse. He lived for 2 short time in Acton, then moved to Georgetown. The loss of his sight caused him to develop his memory as a means of entertainment, and he memorized the birthdays of more than 1,500 people, many of them residents of Georgetown.

"THE COUNTRY DOCTOR" HERE FRIDAY

Darryl P. Zanuck's "The Country Doctor," showing at the Gregory Theatre on Friday, proves to be the "biggest event" of the year as it presents the five famous, famous, Quintuplets, laughing, crouching and scolding year, heart as motion picture stars.

It is a story bristling with drama, comedy, pathos and adventure that presents these universally loved babies in their first feature length picture roles. Jan Hersholt is the hero, as the doctor who dedicates his life to a tooth-and-claw battle against pain and ill in a Canadian fur settlement.

Hindered by official red-tape, sorely in need of a hospital, he antagonizes the heads of his company, loses his position because of the enmity of the company manager. He answers: he has call for his services, and to his astonishment brings five tiny mites to the world at one birth.

With a startling suddenness, the doctor finds his position reversed. He is the focus of world interest. He can depend and get everything he wants for his tiny charges. And, in the climax, the man who faced a lonely old age becomes the recipient of highest honors from the government.

Hillsburg

Miss Marilyn and Master Billie Miller, of Brampton, who have been spending the past week with their grandmother, Mrs. W. Miller; third line, are returning home this week.

One Minute Pulpit

Surely every man worketh in a vain shew; surely he is disquieted in vain; he heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who shall gather them. —Psalm 39:6.

HER EYES DID IT

The "romance, mystery and glamor" in Merle Oberon's dark eyes have completely captivated young David Niven, British actor, so there's going to be wedding bells out Hollywood way, if friends of the young couple have their gossip right. Anyway, Merle and David are inseparable companions, and there's no pain shown when they're together. And Niven freely admits "romance has caught up with Niven Merle's romantic eyes are graphically portrayed above.

TWO ESCAPE AT REFORMATORY

James Beatty, 21, and Ross Middleton, 19, two prisoners at the Ontario Reformatory, escaped from the institution late Monday night, and were believed to be in the district around Arkell and Corwin.

The fugitives, both trustees, were painting one of the Reformatory buildings when they made their dash, for freedom shortly before the supper roll call. A guard took up pursuit immediately they were missed and trailed the pair to a point a few miles east of the city, when they disappeared in the thick bush.

Beatty was sentenced at Niagara Falls for motor car theft, while Middleton, who came from Huntsville, was sentenced on a charge of arson. They were both serving indeterminate terms.
