

A PROPHECY

Far down the vista of the years
We look with eyes undimmed by tears;
A heavenly harvest comes in sight,
A harvest fair and golden bright.

The praise sung beneath her walls,
The truth proclaimed within her halls;
Her youth, some near and some abroad,
Who told the love and power of God;
The noble men whose lives brought praise
The true religion all their days;
The women who by kindly deed
And modest life adorned their creed;
The young and old who ever strove
To spread the news of Jesus' love;
And those who never word had said,
But daily let their lives be read—

All these for God have truly sown As fifteen decades hastened on,
And in the Great Hereafter they Methinks shall hear the Master say:

"Come, ye who worked in My employ,
And share My everlasting joy!"
And in the Heavenly Hallel we Shall serve our Lord eternally.

TWO SPECIALS FOR HALLOWEEN

By Betty Barclay

Halloween does not call for elaborate dinners but it does demand one or two unusual dishes after the festivities of the evening. A good punch, sandwiches, coffee and a novel dessert are in order.
Try the following this Halloween:

JACK-O-LANTERNS

1 package orange-flavored gelatin 1 pint warm water Dried currants
6 halves canned peaches, drained 6 marshmallows, flattened Dissolve gelatin in warm water. Fill wide sherbet glasses about 1/2 full and chill. Press currants into rounded side of each peach half to make eyes, nose, and mouth of Jack-o-lantern face. When gelatin is firm, place marshmallow in center of each glass and cover with peach half, placing face-side up. Pour remaining cold, syrupy gelatin over peaches and chill until firm. Serves 6.

HALLOWEEN PUNCH

3 cups pineapple juice
1/2 cup grapefruit juice
1 cup ginger ale
1/2 cup raspberry syrup (If fresh raspberry juice is used, add 3 tablespoons sugar) Mix the ingredients well, put into ice box. When serving, add some thinly sliced orange and maraschino cherries and crushed ice. For 50 servings, multiply recipe by 8.

1937 MOTOR PERMITS
TO BE AVAILABLE
ON NOVEMBER 2nd

Toronto, October 27th, 1936—Hon. T.
B. McQueen, Minister of Highways, announced to-day that 1937 Motor Vehicle Permits and Operators' Licenses will go on sale throughout the Province on November 2nd.

The Highways Department is making 1937 permits available at this time so that purchasers of new 1937 cars and trucks will not be obliged to pay for 1936 registration and so that the increasingly large number of autumn purchasers of used cars and trucks will not have to pay the usual transfer fee with only two months of the year remaining.

The advance sale of 1937 permits is also designed to alleviate the usual last minute rush when 1936 permits expire at the end of the year. Motorists who wish to avoid waiting in line will be able to do so by procuring their new permits in November.
The 1937 automobile registration plates commemorate Coronation Year, both in color and design. The figures are white on a red background with a white crown on each side at the top. The numbering arrangement has been changed from last year. There will be no letter prefixes.
The series letter will come in the second, third or fourth position between the numbers and each plate will have only one series letter.

In announcing the advance sale of 1937 permits Mr. McQueen stated that the Department will be unable to consider requests for special arrangements of numbers or special series letters. This has occasioned considerable extra work in the past and the Minister hopes, by its discontinuance, to save the expense of this extra work involved and at the same time increase the efficiency of the service given to all motorists.

One hundred issuing offices throughout the Province will be ready to supply the new permits and registration plates on November 2nd. As formerly, those living in districts remote from issuing offices can procure their permits and licenses by mail, direct from the Department of Highways, Motor Vehicles Branch, Queen's Park, Toronto.

LIGHTNING KILLS RAINMAKER

How a youthful rainmaker delivered rain according to agreement and was killed by lightning from an extra cloud, has been told in the history of South Africa, during the effort of the father of the rain producer to collect $5,000 for the work. M. J. M. Brown and W.
D. Mylrea, farmers, declare that in the absence of the regular rainmaker, the son contracted to deliver moisture from above to certain natives' farms for the $5. With his two wives the son mixed some "mull" (mud) and some old bones, and sang an incantation. Within a half hour the fields were asked. Then came the cloud, with lightning and death for the son. The father explained that the son made a mistake in mixing the "mull" and this caused his own death.

THE OLD MAN OF THE
BIG CLOCK TOWER

MRS. LOFTY AND I

Mrs. Lofty keeps a carriage.
So do I.
She has dappled grays to draw it;
None have I.
She's no prouder with her coachman Than am I.
With my blue-eyed, laughing baby, Trundling by,
I hide the face lest she should see The cherub boy and envy me.
Her fine husband has white fingers, Mine has not;
He could give his bride a palace,
Mine a cot.
Hers comes home beneath the starlight, Ne'er crosses she;
Mine comes in the purple twilight,
Kisses me,
And prays that He Who turns life's sands
Will hold his loved ones in his hands.

Mrs. Lofty has her jewels,
So have I;
She wears hers upon her bosom,
I, under I.
She will leave hers at death's portal,
By and by;
I shall bear my treasure with me
When I die.

For I have love and she has gold; She counts her wealth, mine can't be told.
She has those who love her station,
None have I;
But I've one true heart beside—Glad am I,
I'd not change it for a kingdom,
No, not I.
God will weigh us in His balance,
By and by,
And then the difference He'll define Twixt Mrs. Lofty's wealth and mine.
—From the Old Scrap Book.

Now for the sketches of old Knox Church. The first Elders of Knox Church were Duncan Kennedy, Sr., the grandfather of the late John R. Kennedy, who passed away about six years ago; James Lindsay, afterwards of the Limehouse Church; and John McFinnlay, Sr., of Nassagaweya. The first addition to those pioneer Elders was Donald McBayne. The first Deacons were Ninian Lindsay, Sr., and Archibald Campbell. The first baptism in the old church was on October 25th, 1857, Janet, daughter of John McBayne, and Isabella McDonald. The original roll of membership in 1850 comprised forty members, none of whom are now living. In those early days a dollar was a long way. The salary paid to Rev. Mr. McLaughlin, in 1859, was $100, and in 1862 the Rev. Lachlan Cameron, the new minister, was promised a stipend of $600, with Manse and glebe.

Knox Church Sunday School has a history which goes considerably farther back than that of the church. Old folks who knew told me long ago that it was organized by the late John Burns, in 1843. The sessions were first held in his farm house, on lot 23, third line.
There was a school house built nearby, on the third line, about this time, for the children of Glen Lawson and vicinity, and in May the Sunday School sessions commenced there. Mr. Burns taught the older scholars and Mr.
James Lindsay the smaller ones. Mr.
Dempster and the late James Shaw were a little later added to the list of teachers. For two years the school was held in this school house, and in the autumn of 1846, the new church at Acton having been opened, it was held there.

Mr. Burns came with the school and was joint Superintendent with Duncan Kennedy, Sr. In 1847 Mr. Burns moved to Streetsville, where he took the position of editor of The Record, which was published there. Mr. Kennedy continued as Superintendent nearly to the close of his life. Some of the early teachers were James Lindsay, Alexander Grant, Alexander McDonald, Lachlan McDonald, Lab-lla McDonald and Robt.
Swan, Adam Dickson, Alexander Warren and Robert Warren were also teachers in those early days.
One of the most successful Superintendents of the school in the old church was the late Robert Little. He was a great lover of Biblical history. I re-Kind Visitor: "Well, let's hope it will be your last!"

NOT MISSED MUCH

The man with the suitcase chased the train to the end of the platform but failed to catch it. As he slowly walked back, moping his brow, an interested onlooker remarked:
"Miss the train?"
"Oh, not much," was the reply. "You see, I never got to know it very well."

SOME PORK!

Customer: "Have you any good pork?" Butcher: "Good pork? I've got some pork that will make better chicken salad than any veal you can buy."

THE SOURCE!

"I've been getting threatening letters through the mail, isn't there a law against that?"
"There certainly is," replied Ward.
"In fact, it is a very serious offence to send threatening letters. Have you any idea who's doing it?"
"Sure! The income-tax collector."

Timid Wife (to husband who has fallen asleep at the wheel)—I don't mean to detract to you, George, but isn't that billboard coming at us awfully fast?

IS IT?

Little Johnny, aged seven, had been taken to the zoo to see the animals.
He stood before the spotted leopard's cage for a few minutes staring intently, then, turning to his mother, he asked:
"Say, ma, is that the dotted lion that everybody wants dad to sign on?"
