COURAGE A MORAL VALUE

Courage is not a muscular, but a moral virtue. A form of courage is to withstand public opinion. Some men in these matters are always on the unpopular side, always in opposition to popular prejudice, not from conviction or perversity, but because they see beyond their day, or discern dangers not as yet perceived, or have inherited truth of which others have been robbed.—Cardinal Manning.

The LETTER BOX

THOUGHTS OF, AND FOR, THE FREE PRESS

Dear FREE PRESS:

One of the pleasing things after an acquaintance of fifty-four years with the FREE PRESS, maintained in various Ontario communities, ending up with many years in Acton; in the American mid-west; in Montreal and the Canadian west, is the knowledge of the fact that it follows so many Acton people to so many divergent destinations. In the last about year and a half there have been in various ways the knowledge of its going to various places in the three Western Provinces, Fernie, B.C., and the American Soo. Just recently a local lady called to say she had a letter from a friend in Saskatchewan whence she had recently come, asking about any knowledge of a FREE PRESS contributor from here, as found in reading the FREE PRESS. Fine thing it is, when old-time connections are maintained that it is through such an excellent medium.

To again quote Rev. Dr. Kinnawin, "That was always a well-conducted 'paper, clean and wholesome'."

One of the marvels of this Province is the work of the "Chinook," a sudden mild breath from the south-west, when snow banks vanish almost as you look at them. To-day—4th—is one of these, on which the hillsides again are being revealed in their former picturesque showing. Of course more snow is quite liable.

There have been some immense drifts, especially in the southern part. Yesterday's Herald had a photo of a mound of snow and soil drift—about 35 feet high in "angel food" style. Another shows a drift of five with a girl on top able to touch the telegraph wires. They are very hard to get through, at this particular place impervious to snow plow, and will have to be handled by manpower, at an estimated cost of $1,000 for these five, let alone many others.

It is interesting to note in Ontario news of the rampaging of the Grand River and neighboring waterways. Where last summer the plains were published of dwindling streams, and anxious suggestions of conservation to provide against such, now there is more than enough, and more than can be "conserved." All the rivers run to the sea, yet the sea is never full.

How much is entailed in a kind deed in a good cause. A little Acton girl of many years ago, whose childish interest in missions led Mrs. Easton to generously constitute her a life-member in the Women's Missionary Society, has gone from here to-day to Calgary, at considerable inconvenience, to attend a Conference Branch, and taking along a couple of others who would probably be influential in organizing an "auxiliary" in their locality.

Kind regards to "Northern Ontario," and "Ginger Farm," and, of course, the staff.

Yours

J. S. COLEMAN

TOOTHPRINTS

An apple has led to the arrest of Josef Kozak, an unemployed workman living near Brezno, Bohemia. A thief broke into a villa at Brezno and stole the silver. In a fruit dish among his haul there was an apple. He ate it and threw the core on the carpet. That was a year ago. The police found the core and have kept it ever since. Now there has been another burglary of silver in the neighborhood, Kozak, who it is alleged, had been acting suspiciously, was arrested. The manner of the theft reminded the police of the first burglary. They took Kozak's toothprints—and they are alleged to match perfectly those in the carefully preserved apple-core.
