CITY NEWS ITEMS.

It is a little late for house cleaning, but we wish the old residents would look over the piles of old papers, etc. in the attic for stray copies of the old Highland Park News, so as to enable us to complete a file, which shall ultimately go to the Public Library for safety and permanent preservation.

Rev. H. H. Thoren came into the NEWS office the day after Thanksgiving and laid down a bright, fresh silver dollar—as good as gold now,—and said “Please put my name down as a subscriber to the NEWS,

To Pastor Thoren belongs the honor of being the first cash-paying subscriber to Highland Park's new paper.

Mr. Tetlow who used to work for Kenney, Schaefer and Sullivan has a shop in Fletchers block. He knows how to work and is not afraid of it, either. Someway Highland Park is getting a lot of plumbers with three good qualifications: they know how to do a good job, they take hold and do it themselves: then like men they try to pay their bills. Mr. Tetlow is one of these men.

Not every local Journal of the size of the NEWS can provide their patrons with an original home story of such dramatic skill, pathos and interest as the one the first instalment of which we offer our readers to day. Miss Moore is one of the successful teachers Highland Park sends to the schools of Chicago, while Miss Skidmore is well known in Highwood and Ft. Sheridan circles. Both are estimable young ladies and will not let this story be the first and last product of their pens.

When Mayor Evans heard what pastor Thoren had done, he put on his overcoat and went to the NEWS office post haste and laid down a fresh crisp green back, saying “Put me down as number two, cash paying subscribers.” It was done. Some ministers and mayors we have known down east say that they ought to be dead-headed on every newspaper list, and every concert, church sociable, etc. But that is not the style in Highland Park. The NEWS won't quarrel with the prevailing local fashion in this regard!

The ladies of the Baptist church give an entertainment and sale this week Friday, Dec. 4th, at McDonald's Hall. It will be a bazaar and Dutch Market and in the evening from six o'clock onwards supper will be served. Admission, ten cents; exit, ——— Dollars! Everyone who can talk Deutsch is invited. Everyone who can't talk Doitch will be welcome. Christmas and fancy goods generally on sale, all the afternoon and evening. No such opportunity was ever offered to any people in the western world.
