LOCAL ITEMS.

Hot soda at Schumacher's pharmacy.
 Use Sweetland's Compound Cough Syrup.
 Royal Worcester corsets at Miss Erskine's.
 Deputy Sheriff Webb was in town Thursday, trying to disturb the equanimity of our people.
 Mrs. A. W. Fletcher left Saturday for southern California, where oranges are not so scarce and wilted.
 Why pay $1.00 for Hood's Sarsaparilla, when you can buy Schu-macher's—equally as good—for 75c.
 We see that pastor Harris, of Milburn, is going to drink Waukesha water for his health. Highland Park had that water once, but it was not a great success. The trouble was the company were not willing to pay enough to hire people to drink, they said it tasted just as though Loon lake was low that summer.
 The firemen's suits, elsewhere mentioned, have been distributed to the men, a receipt being taken from each, so that the city will be protected against careless loss. Of course, loss and wear in the service are expected, and no one expects any thing else, though this receipt method is the business way of doing things.
 The editor of the NEWS thinks of counting the number of teams that go over the Hazel avenue bridge some day and publish the names of the owners of the teams as far as he knows or can learn them. Some of our merchants have no idea how much their delivery clerks rush over that bridge.

 call on D. M. Erskine, Jr., & Co.

If you happen to see the Warren steam mill ad it will pay you to read it, whether you are building or not. It shows what Park people are doing, and what we have in store.

Ex-President Harrison has a bran new baby, and now he says he is glad he is not President. He finds that one young American is all he wants to manage and so he is willing to leave the 69,999,999 to someone else, and if Major McKinley wants the job he is welcome to it. All of which shows that an ex-president can have some sense in his old age.

Mrs. A. Bock finds her trade growing so rapidly and securely that she has been compelled to enlarge the old Gieser Bros. meat market, by the removal of the ice room and finish it all off into a fine store for her dry goods, boot and shoe trade, as she needs all the old store for her increasing grocery trade. We congratulate Mrs. Bock on her business success.

Society here has our sympathies.
 It seems a first class dead beat came along a couple of weeks since, palmed himself off on one of our best citizens where he boarded while here.
 He was ushered into the gilt-edged social circles, got "little favors" from his new friends who cashed his cheques; on a forged letter of introduction got into the good graces of the officers at Fort Sheridan, drank their wines, ate their dinners, and smoked their cigars, as he did here, and about Saturday night after he had disposed of all the cheques he could safely, left the town. Some people won't shed a tear over that, but we will.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Waukegan Register, daily and weekly, has sustained another change.
 Frank L. Radecke, who has been connected with it from the start, nearly five years ago, has sold his interest to the two sons of Mr. Dunn, the senior proprietor, so that the firm now stands B. A. Dunn & Sons.
 The sons have been in the office much of the time these years, so that they are entirely familiar with the business. Roy, who becomes city editor, has had considerable experience in that line of work and will do well, as will his brother Roland in the business department.
 Mr. Radecke retires with the best feelings of the establishment and the community toward him. It was a natural and wise change and presages larger success in the future.
