Judge Holmes had a famous "Cow vs C. & N. W. Ry." case Wednesday. A Holstein Yankee cow undertook to but a train and got the worst of the encounter. Her owner brought suit against the company for damages and failed to recover. Most folks know better than to sue a railroad company.

The service in memory of E. H. Denison, recently deceased, was held at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning, and was well attended. Prof. Gray and T. H. Spencer spoke of their regard for Mr. Denison and recalled incidents connected with his life and their relations in church affairs.

LATER—Still another man has come to the rescue of the city census. Mr. Vance Chamberlain, one of the Northwestern conductors, is boasting over the arrival of a baby boy at his home, Thursday morning, and Dr. Bergen reports everything all satisfactory. That makes the census 3002. Let the good work go on; the city is clearly on a boom. LATER STILL—One more on the west side, 3003!
