Mrs. Susan S. Jones of Austin, is spending a short time with Mrs. S. R. Bingham and "Grandpa."

The city clerk and police judge got out their wheels this week and then practiced picking themselves up out of the mud.

Win Ellis left Wednesday evening for Quincy, Ill. The ball club of that city will give him a trial and if he proves strong enough will play in the western association this summer.

In connection with the evening service at the First United Evangelical church on Sunday evening the pastor will give a statistical report of the work covering the past year.

Many of our Park ladies are attending the Moody meetings in the Auditorium. Mrs. J. McDonald, Mrs. Hibbard, Mrs. Bingham and Mrs. Jones are among those who have been.

Alex Robertson and men have put a first class shingle roof on the J. F. Rice house, and the Burgess house on old Port Clinton is being thoroughly repaired for rent or sale, new foundations and other improvements.

Some of our enterprising children have imported the measles into town and half a dozen or more families are enjoying the luxury. Generally speaking an 8 to 12 year old boy revels in the measles more than in anything else except teasing the cat or shaking the sawdust stuffing out of his sister's doll.

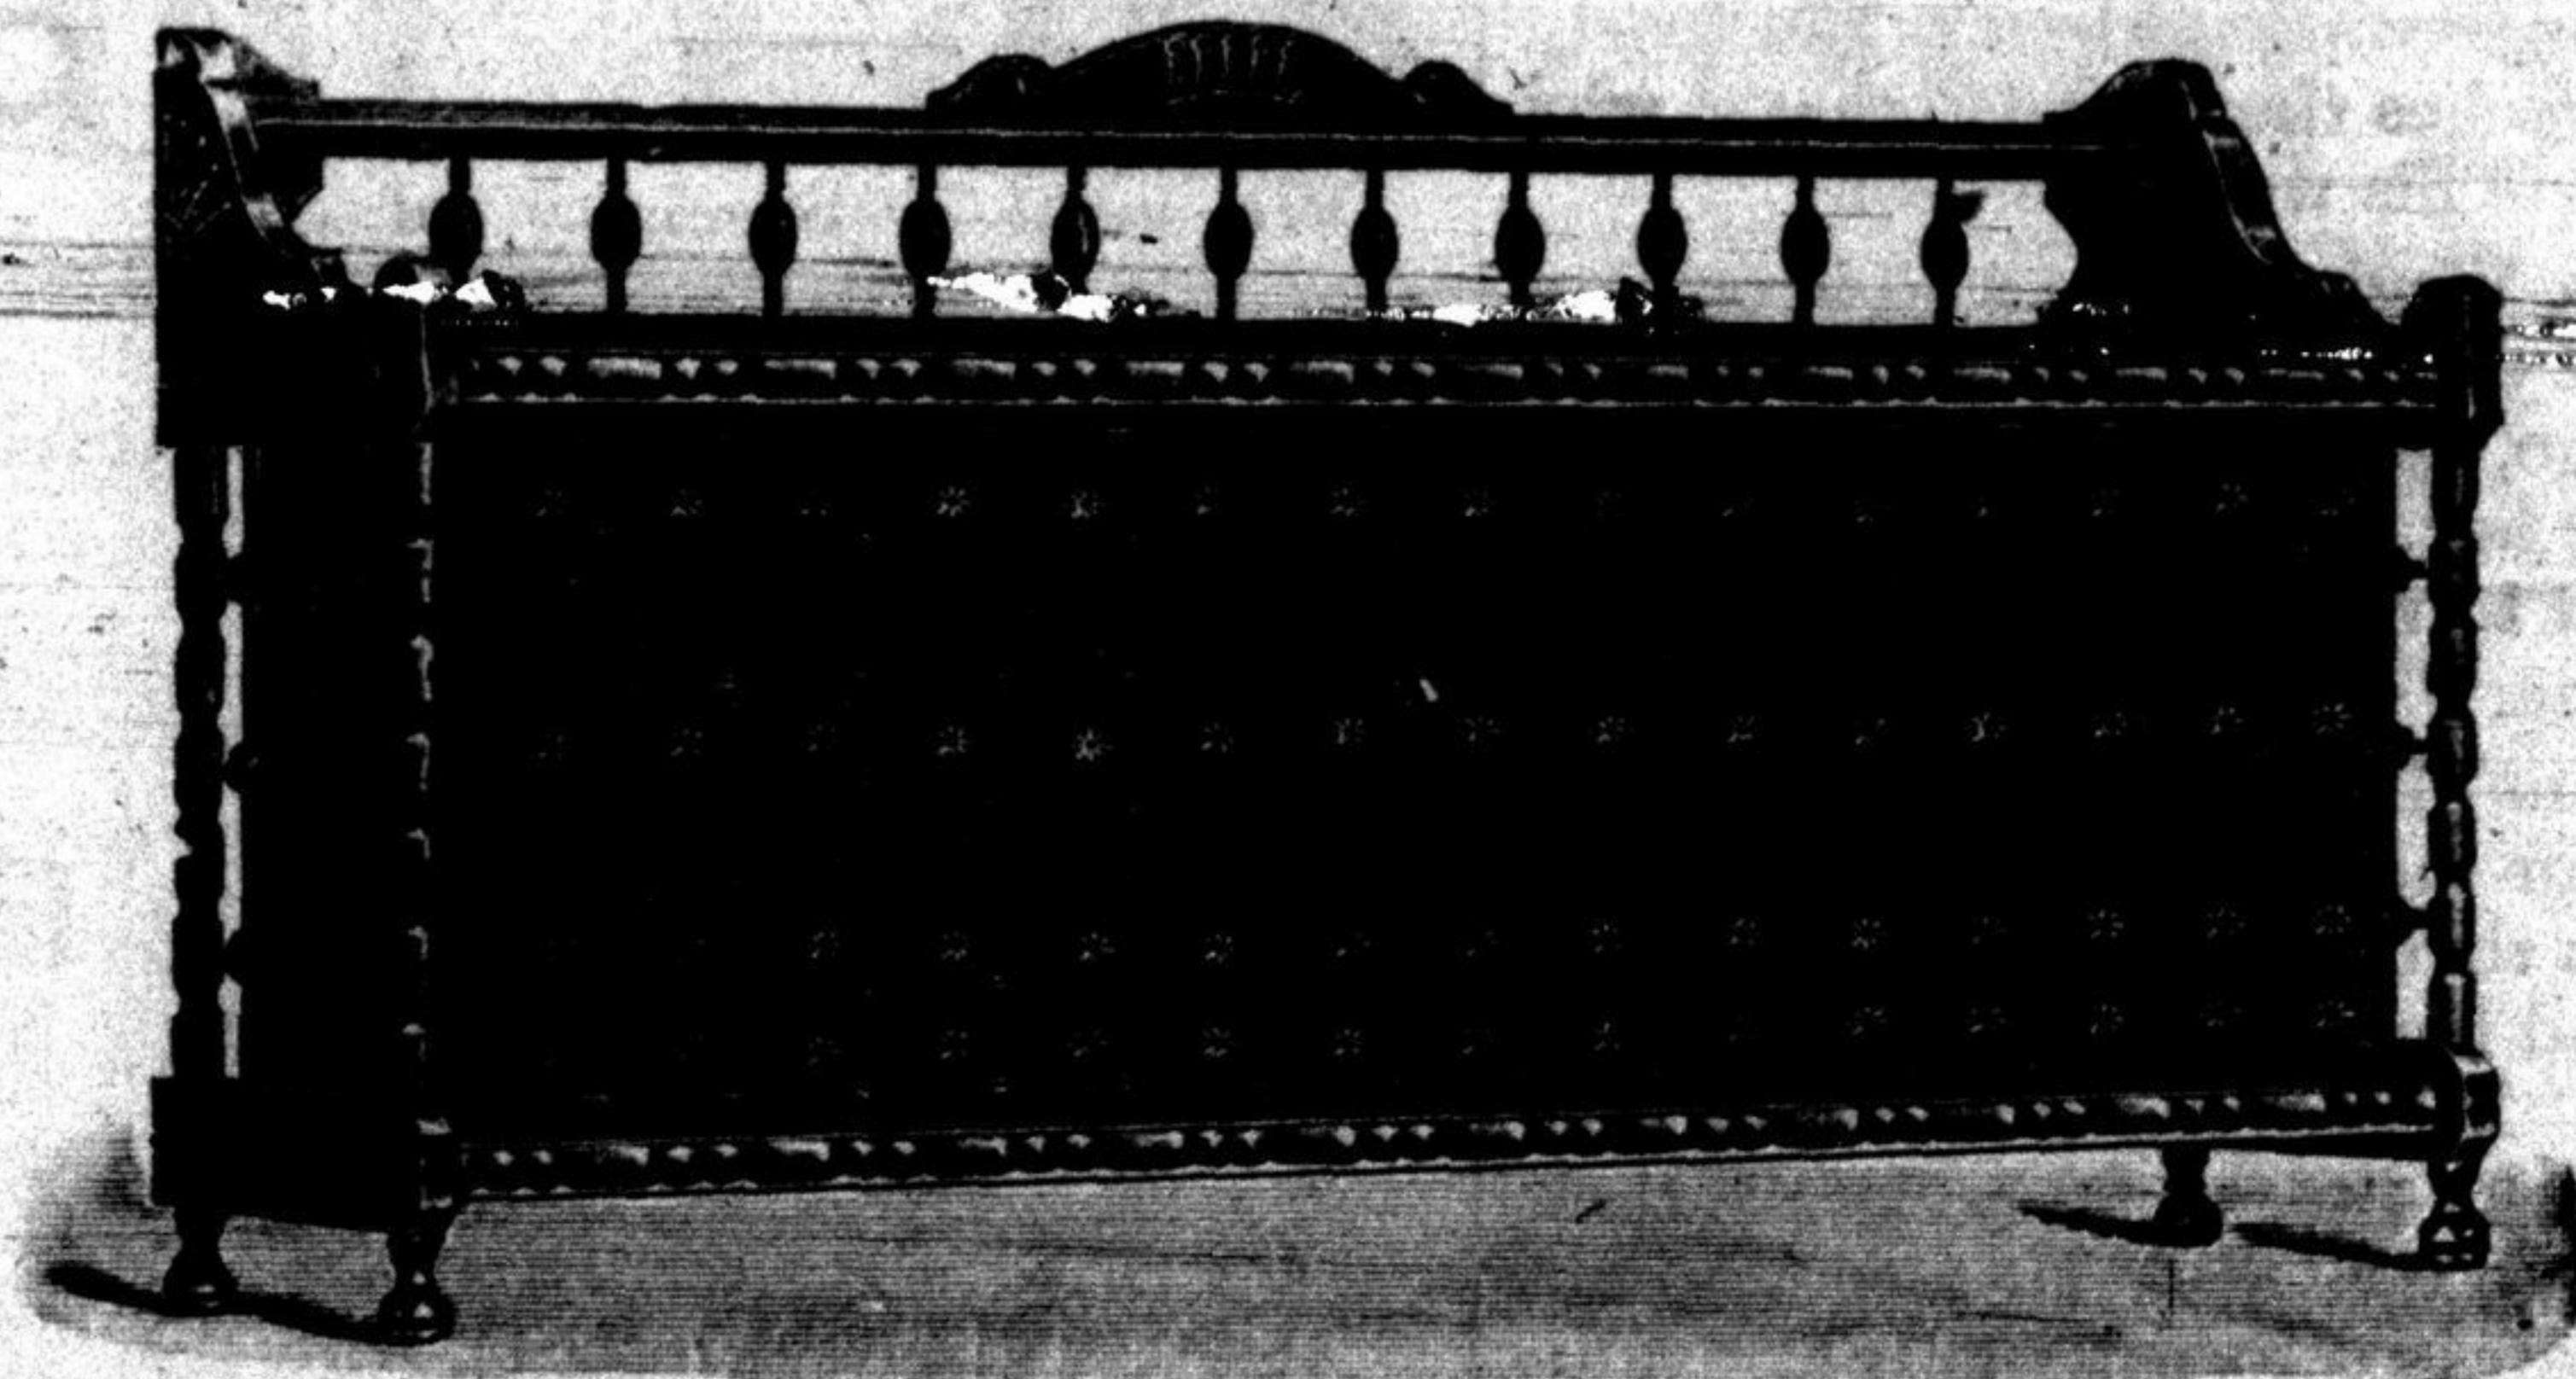

Mrs. J. F. Rice and children, having spent a couple weeks in the Park in her Prospet avenue home, left for Philadelphia Wednesday for a stay of some two months. Her house is for rent, a good eight room house with all modern improvements and one of the finest lots in the city. Call on Judge Hibbard.

We see from the last meeting of the Supervisors that our Mr. Fletcher had cut down the expenses very much and he took pains to tell the board how he had been enabled to do so much by way of economy for the town and county these hard times. It was because the Ladies Relief and Aid society so ably and wisely managed by Mrs. Col. Davidson and her associates had taken hold of the work of relief for the needy: of helping them to help themselves. And as Mr. Fletcher told these things to the board, the members were so greatly pleased and became so thoroughly enthused over the work of the Park ladies that they passed a public vote of thanks to them.
