ABOUT THE CITY.

For mortgage loans on real estate call on D. M. Erskine, Jr., & Co.
John Middleton's new house up on Linden avenue is approaching completion.
Ingalls Bros. are selling, making and repairing wheels just as though there had never been an election.

Some one's hornless gray cow ran loose and committed depredations Tuesday and Wednesday down near the Presbyterian church. From the way she acted, the marshal thought she belonged to some heretic.

W. S. Warren, the west side barber, moves into the Goldberg building at the corner of Central avenue and First street, the early part of next week, where he will be pleased to serve old and new customers.

The ladies of the Park have a genuine old-fashioned "sewing society" for local gossip and a cup of tea, and they have a real live topic for the former and keep it "a humming," too, and what is more they have plenty of help.

The firemen's ball last Monday night was a great success. The object of the ball was realized, that of providing the firemen with rubber boots. About $100 was netted. Mr. C. W. Kirk gave a check for $10 for his ticket, a good example for property owners to follow.

Street Commissioner Nolan is deserving of credit for the sensible and thorough way he has scraped the streets and cleaned out the gutters. Deep, well-cleaned gutters are half the work of well-preserved streets. It reflects credit on Mayor Evans that his business sense finds such men for these positions.

Dr. J. F. Millspaugh, Superintendent of public schools in Salt Lake City, Utah, spent Sunday with City Attorney Smoot. They were classmates at Ann Arbor, and members of the class of 1879. The Doctor is a very bright man, was obliged to give up his medical practice and take up educational work on account of his health.

Why not have a hundred loads or more of the hard clay from the street in front of McDonald's store put into that low place up on St. Johns avenue, against Park avenue and all along that sag? The street and lots ought to be raised in there, at least up to the level of the railroad track and now is the time to do it, so it will be packed down hard before the street is paved.

Alex Robertson, the carpenter and contractor, has just been awarded the contract for the erection of A. W. Waldo's new house on Park avenue. Mr. Robertson knows how to do a good job and does it; he is willing to warrant his work and stake his pay on giving entire satisfaction. He learned his trade in a land where a few weeks at the sawbuck does not make a carpenter. We congratulate Mr. Waldo on the assurance he will have a good home.
