CITY BREVITIES.

Yesterday's storm was without a parallel in this or any season.

Miss Law, one of the Chicago teachers, is visiting her associate, Miss More, in Port Clinton.

Rev. Henry Neill was in this city Tuesday and witnessed some of the "Home Talent" light comedy.

E. H. Purdy can furnish now '96 Ladies' Waverleys, 21-inch frame, 26-inch wheels at $45.00, while they last.

Conductor Vance Chamberlain of the Northwestern railroad, lost his little child, only a few weeks old, Sunday.

J. McGregor Adams, so enamored with his beautiful home down in the woods on the bluff, has come out early this year.

The Young Men's Club sleight-of-hand entertainment was postponed on account of the storm. Be on hand when it comes.

Ex-Mayor John A. Roche of Chicago, after staying away from the Park one summer, is back again in his lake front home.

The famous Evans brick yard opened for the season by making brick Tuesday. These Park brick have a reputation all along the lake shore.

Supt. of Streets Edward Nolan with characteristic thoughtfulness put down temporary plank crossings at McDonald's corner yesterday morning.

The Republican caucus last evening in the Young Mens Club room decided to have O. L. Oleson represent the town and vote for Whitney delegates.

Fred Schumacher opened his elegant soda fountain Wednesday, so you can get an aid to digestion at any hour of the day or night. He keeps Lake Michigan water on draught all the time.

The Highway commissioners had a meeting to look up and take action on the Stupey matter, raised at the town caucus. Mr. Stupey should serve out his time and then elect a new man. That is good law and common sense.

Don't fail to attend the council meeting next Tuesday evening and see the old council expire and pass into history, and the new members, C. G. Philips, Daniel Cobb and Col. Harlan P. Davidson, sworn in. The Mayor will deliver his second inaugural, make his appointments — in a word the machinery of the city government will be wound up and set going for another year.

Schuyler M. Coe has returned to the Park.

W. S. Warren, the popular west side barber, has his new shop at the corner of Central and Second street opened in fine style, where you can get a shave or hair cut in the best possible manner. No charge for seeing his shop.

Lots of the old gravel from in front of Mr. McDonald's store and cinders from the old crossings are being put into St. Johns avenue just up by Park avenue into that slough, and soon it will give us a good, hard, solid road bed; another News idea materialized.

On account of the unprecedented storm of yesterday, the Ossoli club meeting was postponed one week. The essayist will be Mrs. Daniel Cobb; subject, "Influence of Music on National Character." Miss L. N. Cobb will give music from leading modern composers.

The very few persons who knew the real worth of the Johrdal family who used to live here, especially Tina and Martha, will be glad to know they are comparatively well and happy and very useful in Portland, Oregon, a letter just having been received from them.

If you wish to learn to read or speak French or German, make your want known to Prof. F. W. Alex. Also, between lessons in these living languages he can, if you wish, give you a bit of instruction in the manly art of fencing. His advt. on 10th page will tell you about it.

Tracy D. Hull and family, having completed the transfer of their Laurel avenue home to Trinity church for a rectory — we envy Rector Wolcott his new and convenient home — have moved into the large and elegant Raffin mansion on Central avenue, just opposite Frank B. Green's hotel. For roomers and boarders the combination will be complete.

Raffin & Baker found, like everybody else, business dull during the winter, but everything is activity in the lumber yards now. They keep all lines full so that orders can be filled at once. In addition to this staple their ice business has become one of the institutions of this city. They practically established the idea of selling pure Wisconsin ice in the Park; they go so far as to refuse to put in home ice for the bottom layers in their ice house, layers which always melt away, lest through these some contamination may get to the pure ice. Hence their trade is very large and rapidly increasing.
