

SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

to study with no habits of study, disciplined by years of work, the results secured seemed surprising as well as eminently gratifying. They all did admirably.

Mrs. W. C. Egan and President Everett made little speeches and Mrs. Egan pinned red, white and blue badges on the graduating class for them to wear the Fourth of July. Mr. Everett asked them all to play and grow fat and come back in the fall for a better years' work, if possible.

Miss Barlow had arranged a little basket of candy for each pupil and visiting child and the children had worked on bristol board a flower for each visitor. Altogether it was a most delightful hour.

Some people may not know that Henry Ewart has opened a shop for general blacksmithing and horseshoeing on Second street near Central avenue, where he does all kinds of work in his line in first class style at reasonable rates.

Our two Vermont school teachers the Misses Bottum, Miss Bertha spends her vacation in Lincoln, Nebraska and Miss Molly hers in her old home in Shaftesbury.

Charles King of Chicago has entered the employ of Fred Schumacher. He is an expert druggist and will fill the bill admirably.

Miss Nellie Elliott of Chicago is visiting Miss Alma Streiber.
