EXMOOR EXCERPTS.

Tomorrow, Saturday, promises more than usual interest and brilliancy at the club, and that is saying much for our Exmoor. We are glad to report the club as growing in numbers and popularity all summer, and the managers are determined to make the remaining months of the open season as attractive as possible, and they will succeed; the past proves that. Tomorrow, as usual, there will be tournaments and in the evening comes the dance. With its accustomed courtesy, the Exmoor has invited the Highland Park Club to Saturday evening's dance.

Thus far four medals have been won, by the following gentlemen: President W. A. Alexander, J. Hobart Moore, Everett Millard and T. T. Watson, handicapped. The final contest for the Morris Cassard cup will occur tomorrow week Saturday, September the 11th, which will be one of the red letter days in the Ex-moor's history.

Never have the rooms in the club house been engaged for the Sunday so early in the week as this. The 'phone messages began coming in before breakfast Tuesday morning, and before Wednesday noon every room and cot was taken, and still

There is one thing about the club which gives us great pleasure,— the superb character of its cuisine. Not only is its superiority known to our own people, but they know it elsewhere; in fact so well is it known, that it is a matter of common remark. Hence, gentlemen from other towns unite with the Exmoor, and when they wish to give a choice little dinner party they come here. So much for sagacious management and a superior chef.

We think one marked peculiarity of our Exmoor is the number of college young people connected with it. We hope to give a list of them soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Antisdel, who s ent five weeks in this city the first of the summer, surprised the denizens of Ravinook, Monday, by driving up about 10 o'clock, and spending the night. Since leaving the Park they have been to Waukegan, Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee, Oconomowce and Lake Geneva, from whence they drove Sunday to Wauconda and thence here Monday evening. They went to their Chicago home Tuesday morning, after speaking for accommodations at Ravinook for next summer. During the five and a half weeks since they left here, they have driven over 1600 miles, and their three horses are in better condition than when they started.

WEDDED.

Thursday evening, Sept. 2nd, 1897, at the home of her parents, Tracy D. and Mrs. Hull, occured the marriage of Miss Geraldine Hull. The man of her choice is Dwight N. Richardson of Kansas City, Mo., where they will probably make their future home. The ceremony was performed by Rev.L. A. Gould, the family pastor. Only the family were present, and no one outside the family knewything about the happy event, but for all that the bride's many friends hereabouts will follow them with their best wishes. Miss Hull had a wide and choice circle of friends in the Park. She was a vocalist of recognized standing, as well as a social favorite. The congratulations of the News are extended to the happy pair.
