

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Major Davidson authorizes us to say there will be no changes in the teaching corps of the academy, save the addition of Lieutenant Winston.

Constables Rudolph and Edwards had their pictures in Thursday morning's Record; pretty good ones, too. Our boys don't get left, you see.

John Rogan of the Electric Light company, while fooling with the barber in John Mohr's barber shop Wednesday, put his hand through the cigar case, cutting it badly.

Mr. White has begun work on his new $10,000 to $12,000 home down on the lot just west of Sylvan Dells. Henry Ditmer has the contract for the mason work and C. P. Sullivan for the plumbing.

Highland Park contractors are figuring on the contracts for building the electric street railroad from the Fort Sheridan depot to Sheridan road south. Work will begin soon, so we are told. Recipe, cum grano salis.

Miss Rebecca Meyer, a graduate trained nurse, and a cousin to Rev. Dr. Thoren, has located here to practice her profession. She makes her home with Mr. Thoren. Phone No. 30 will reach her, or No. 453 West Central avenue.

THE EXMOOR CLUB.

The Club is putting forth its best efforts to close the season in a "blaze of glory." The successes, so far, are phenomenal; a year ago all was a wilderness and prairie farm, today it is the best nine link golf grounds in the country, a fine club house, cottages, barn and private cottages, a macadamized street and a total property of $35,000.

There was a pretty dancing party Saturday evening, at the Exmoor Club house from 8 to 11.30. The Exmoor being strictly a "country" club, the gentlemen appeared in their ordinary business or semi-dress suits and the ladies in their pretty summer gowns, some of which were very pretty. One young lady, and she reports it herself, wore a very choice dress of white six cent per yard dimity which she made her self, and most of the other young ladies were dressed with equally good sense and taste. The music was good and all the other accessories in keeping with the place and the occasion.
