

HIGHWOOD HAPPENINGS.

F. D. and B. O. Fritsch attended the wedding of John Fritsch in Deerfield early this week.

The board of directors of the school at their last meeting decided that as the levy was a little short and the coal supply liable to be very expensive, it would not be wise to hire another teacher at present.

A gentleman who contemplates moving to Canada in a few days, had a sign up in his front yard for about a week which read as follows: "Household Furniture." He said that it attracted more attention than it would if it had been spelled right.

W. E. Brand is altering his property considerably. He is moving off the Bohl house to the east side of the lot, and has platted an alley running north and south through the middle of the lot. The west lot on Waukegan avenue is to be used for business blocks.

While the correspondent was gazing at the pumpkins and poultry at the county fair last Wednesday a bright young hopeful came along with a hammer, knocked the heads off a few bolts, smashed a couple of clips on thind axle of his buggy and did sundry other damage. How the literary man ever got home is a puzzle without a solution.

The case of "People vs. Mrs. Wuhl et al," for keeping a disorderly house was tried before Police Magistrate Cummings last Saturday. The jury consisted of Andrew Ro-berg, W. R. Kenny, John Bolan, John Moore, R. G. Salyards and John Wolff. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, but notwithstanding, the defendants were given one day to move from town and they left on Monday with their personal effects, leaving the furniture which was not engaged to John M. Smythe. The case of W. E. Cummings vs. Thomas Burk and Chris Faulker, for horse stealing, was turned over to the grand jury and defendants were sent to Waukegan to await trial.

GUITAR.

I have made arrangements with the eminent Guitarist, Signor Emilio Calamara, of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, to be in Highland Park one day in each week, for the accommodation of those wishing instruction—provided a sufficient number of pupils can be secured to insure success.

Parties desiring instruction on the Guitar will please call upon or address. PETER F. DOOLEY
