

NEW STOCK OF FINE STATIONERY

Messrs. Evans & Forrest, the publishers of the News, have at last recognized the fact that stationery and a printing office always go together, and so have put in a full line of goods of that kind. They have had the matter in contemplation for some time, but thought best to wait till they moved into their new and larger office. Now they have the office and store in the front, and the printing department in the rear. It is the neatest office and store in the city, in Basye's new block. They have everything in the line of pads, boxes of writing paper and envelopes, from five cents to ten times that figure, while their pads are unrivaled for quality and price. You will find everything in this line and at the lowest figure. You will be welcome at all times, and can subscribe for the News while there if you wish to do so.

NEWSLETS.

What's in a name? They are selling the Hibbard wheel in Antioch, and it goes like hot cakes.

Judge Fuller's Lake County contingent is to be called into service under the President's last call for more men.

William Tillman has sold his superior street sprinkling outfit to Fred Botker, the young man who has operated the sprinkler last, and so far this season. He is an honest, steady, frugal young man, who pays his bills, keeps his word and can always be relied upon. His field is south of the parkways in Central avenue.

Of the elms planted a year ago last fall, seven are dead sure, and five are on the ragged edge. Probably every case is from lack of water last summer, which was a very severe season for newly set trees, as well as strawberry beds and young shrubbery. They ought to be replaced. Whose business is it?

HIGHWOOD AND FORT SHERIDAN.

W. F. Hogan is visiting his brother in Washington, D. C.

Those colored buttons are just the thing Hartwell studio.

Mrs. Bird of Fort Bayard returned to Highwood this week.

Miss Edith Hunt of Chicago, is the guest of friends in town.

There was a quarrel between the managers of our bakery the other day. The result was a separation, and Gerhardt reigns supreme.

Col. Dr. Lippincott left Sunday for the Phillipine Islands where he will be in charge of the medical staff under General Merritt.

The Hartwell studio has been enlarged and remodeled, which adds to the appearance of the place. We are better prepared than ever to satisfy the people more promptly.

The first victim of the electric road was private Rodgers' little boy. He was "flipping," as the boys say, and was thrown in the street by the speed and was badly hurt. This ought to be a warning to the boys.

only about six weeks ago that he was elected.

Since Rev. W. A. Colledge left Waukegan, he has become a D. D. and fills numerous lecture engagements. He is now a successful pastor in Aurora.

William Hallowell, an old settler of Waukegan, celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday last week. He has lived in the Bluff City fifty-three years. He has not only seen the town grow up, but has helped to build it.

Waukegan calls long and loud for an omnibus line like one of ours. If one or two of our superfluous lines would pull out here and go up there on a ten cent basis as here for the first mile and so on, it would do a good business and be popular.
