FRIDAY, JUNE 10.

Was it Lord Byron who said the best prophecy of the future is the past? "Ten good years behind this school is a prophecy of more and better years in the future," was said of the Military Academy at its alumni banquet the other evening.

No Chicago apprentices, but our own competent mechanics transformed Alderman Phillips' place from a cottage into such a residence as the one he now enjoys. When Park men can do such a job as Messrs. Obee, Morton & Zimmer did there, what is the sense of going out of town.

Reverend Wolcott styled himself a "patriarch" in the town, in his toast speech at the Academy, Tuesday evening, while he spoke of the high standing of the cadets for manly conduct etc. He has been here nearly seven years and yet in this western world that represents so much time that he is an "old settler," almost a pioneer.

SATURDAY'S Republican Convention in Woodstock nominated George R. Lyon of Waukegan for our representative in the legislature, and by acclamation and without any resolutions or platform. Mr. Lyon is a platform in himself; when his name is mentioned the people know what he represents and a platform would be superfluous.

THE scandal of our soldier boys' shabby treatment in camp at Springfield, through incompetent or dishonest officials, one or both, has gone all over the land, to the discredit and shame of Illinois. Such are the results of having incompetent self-seeking or dishonest officials in times of great peril, and in the midst of great emergencies.

CAPTAIN Reddick touched a great truth when he gave as one reason why he devotes his life to teaching, "I like to see boys grow." It is a rare pleasure, especially where one has a hand in shaping the plastic young lives, and then living to see them filling their places in the world with noble characters all firmly "set" in proper shape, temper and purpose.

READ President Hipwell's report of the Public Library and note what he says about suitable quarters. The present room can't accommodate the library much longer; don't do it now. The city building is too small, and now let us plan to get the most accommodation for the least money, for the people have to pay all these bills in the end. We shall speak of this again.

Rev. J. Q. A. Henry a noted Chicago divine, who came to that city a few years ago from the Pacific slope, with the avowed purpose of "reforming Chicago," has just now started in to have ladies remove their hats in church, the same as men do. Pray, what does he suppose lots of women go to church for. Hats in the lobby, or on the racks under the seats,—such a church to these females would be the Prince of Denmark with Hamlet left out. Some men were born before their time, who labor for reforms that never come: evidently Parson Henry is one of that class.

We heard the wife of one of our aldermen say of her husband, "If my funeral and a meeting of the city council should occur at the same hour the Colon— would attend the council meeting." That is the right spirit of loyalty and patriotism.

"The latch string is always out for you," said Colonel Davidson to the alumni of the academy, Tuesday last. So said a close fist-ed Vermont deacon, to his brethren who knew of his constrained hospitality. The remark surprised those who heard it, but all surprise was dissipated when he added "but the dog is on the inside." The Colonel don't keep a "dog."

A PLEASANT TRIP.

The Northwestern Electrical association holds its annual meeting next week in Duluth. It has its regular members, and at these annual gatherings invites a few special guests, distinguished as experts in the electrical line. This year the Association has chartered the large steel steamer, "Northwest" which runs on the line from Buffalo to Duluth, to convey them and their guests to the "Zenith City," as Proctor Knott named it. It is said to be the most elegant steamer on the Lakes. It will come from Buffalo to Chicago, for members and guests and then from here go to Duluth in a leisurely way, stopping at various points, taking four days from Chicago to Duluth, a most delightful trip at this pleasant season of the year.

Our interest in the affair grows out of the fact that among the invited guests besides Edison, Thompson and a few such are Prof. and Mrs. Elisha Gray of this city. They are wholly the guests of the Association from the moment they step on the steamer Northwest in Chicago, till they step from the train on their return in the same city this day week. Besides that they will be the guests of Duluth, and it's twin city, Superior, while up there, and Prof. and Mrs. Gray have personal invitations to be the guests of the mayor of Duluth while there. At the close of the convention, and after seeing the sights in and about those cities the party will return to Chicago via the Northwestern road on a special sleeper attached to a through express train. On the whole, it don't seem to us a very serious sin to envy Prof. and Mrs. Gray the delights of such a trip as honored guests of such a distinguished body of scientific men, and we trust they will enjoy every moment of it, and make a safe return. They left this morning and will return next week Friday or Saturday.

CITY COUNCIL

Regular meeting Tuesday night. After records were passed came a petition from many of the workmen down at "The Factory," as they style the Gray Electric Co's works, for some modification of the bicycle ordinance so the men can use the walk under strict regulations, when the streets are too muddy for riding. So far as we have been able to learn, since that night, we think the aldermen are disposed to do anything reasonable that don't let down the bars for abuses. One difficulty they see is that everybody else has the same right to favors of this kind that the factory men have, and they say that the moment such permits are issued some of the men will go to scorching on the walks.

Really the matter is one of such interest that we wish the citizens interested, pro and con, could have a public meeting, with the aldermen present and see what the general sentiment is, for we believe the council regards itself as the peoples' representatives and wishes to meet the people's will. The petition was referred to the street and alley committee to report, we presume, at the next regular meeting.

The balance of the session was taken up with the regular routine business of the regular meetings and so the members got home in good season, adjourning till next Tuesday evening for the contested election case.

The dog nuisance is getting serious in some parts of town. One or two have been killed for rabies and others have been infected, we are told, and although the mayor issued a proclamation for muzzling, we have seen no dog thus protected and one securely tied up.
