We regret to learn that Mrs. P. A. Montgomery, who has been very sick for over two weeks was removed on a stretcher to the Augustana Hospital Thursday for treatment. Everyone will wish for her a speedy recovery. She is one of the benovolent women of Highland Park who can't be spared.

Adolph Gieser and Annie Christenson were married at the home of Edgar S. Boynton, last night by Rev. P. C. Wolcott, and in the presence of their immediate friends. Mrs. Boynton prepared a wedding feast for the happy couple, after which they left for their future home at Lake Zurich.

We don't want to disturb the peace and prosperity of our good Presbyterian folks, but we are compelled in truth to say the old plank sidewalk on the south side of the church lot, where the manse will stand ere long, is in a bad condition. So many plank are loose and fly up at the ends that some one is liable to get a broken limb. As they are those kind of folks who only need a hint to prompt to action, we hereby stop. Verbum sapienti satis.

Someone wanted to know why Alderman Phillips brought in the resolution to allow bicycles on the sidewalk. Was it an electioneering dodge? We said no, for no election is on the docket and he don't indulge in that thing. We will let the secret out. When he heard his minister, Rector Wolcott, had been reported to the austere Judge to be fined for riding his wheel on the walk Alderman Phillips bestirred himself, that is all.

There were two interesting and exciting contests on the Exmoor golf grounds Saturday, between the Glen Views' best sixteen ladies and the same number of the Exmoor's choice players, in the forenoon, and a similiar one between the same number of men in the afternoon. We understand the Glen Views won both games and went back to their homes in Evanston happy. We know they had a delightful time up here, and enjoyed the fine lunch of the Exmoor, for we sat with them.
