Mrs. P. A. Montgomery is slowly improving under the daily care of Dr. A. J. Ochsner and a trained nurse, at the Augustana Hospital, Chicago.

Two young men in this city, Messrs Morgan and Van Schaick, take the London Times. We guess one more "young feller" will join them next year.

B. A. Dunn, the author of "General Nelson's Scout," was here Tuesday, selling his book. It ought to be in every family of children. Buy it, if he comes again.

One of the newspaper offices in Lake County has pictures of all the officials recently elected including Congressman Foss, and the whole plainly labeled "Rogue's Gallery."

Our neighbor Smoot had 1320 votes for county judge, which shows some folks know a good thing when they see it, even if they think some of his political notions a bit off color.

Frank B. Green has about got to his normal tone since baby came. He begins to see common folks some: he is just waiting to have the kid pull his hair and cry out "pa" in his sleep.

Some people complain of the high price of board on the east side. They should bear in mind that good rooms alone rent from three to six dollars per week. Can't "throw in" much board at that rate.

Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard took in Evangelist Williams' two days special meetings in Waukegan this week. He had crowded houses and preaches the gospel in simplicity and power.

The Public Library has received a donation of one hundred books from Mrs. J. L. Stockton, among them complete editions of Irving's, Thackerays' and the poet Spenser's books, and the rest are books valuable in a circulating library.

Miss Albina R. La Bar was unanimously elected the Regent of the "North Shore Chapter," Daughters of the American Revolution, at a meeting held at the residence of Mrs. E. S. Boynton November 12th. Mrs. A. G. Van Schaick was also elected treasurer to fill the office made vacant by Miss La Bar's resignation.
