NEWSLETS.

Finding that their ice trade was rapidly growing, and feeling that the ice intended for refrigerating purposes should be of better quality than slough or brick-yard pond ice, Raffin & Baker built a large enclosure which they filled with pure lake water last fall. From this reservoir they have harvested a large quantity of good, clear ice admirably adapted for their refrigerator trade. This taken in connection with their large trade in Wisconsin lakes ice now makes them the most extensive ice dealers on the North Shore. Raffin & Baker will continue to deliver the best Northern ice to all desiring the same, and their customers can be assured that their poorest quality of ice is better than the best grades sometimes delivered to consumers by retailers.

A number of the leading social spirits of Highwood have decided to organize a social club which shall be both representative and effective. Many of the preliminaries have already been arranged and the News is told that the organization will soon start under favorable auspices.
