of what are called commonplace people. They may not shine as phrase makers, but they have a happy faculty of doing the wee bit necessary things that makes just the difference between comfort and discomfort; and if they have this faculty there is more demand for them in this world than any known variety of "Outlook" or "Uplift" now in the marketplace.

An ordinance has been introduced in the Evanston Council through the agency of which the town hopes to abate the tramp nuisance. It has been the custom to accommodate all comers with a night's lodging and breakfast at the police station. The new ordinance provides thirty days' imprisonment for persons convicted of vagrancy and is to be used as a club to make tramps work on the needs. They will be fed and lodged ing a few hours at street cleaning or going to the bridewell for thirty days. Supporters of the ordinance and the proposed method of enforcement believe the result will be cleaner streets for Evanston.

Two hundred extra copies of the News of last week were immediately sold out and the demand continued throughout the week. This evident appreciation of the efforts of the management to produce a bright and attractive sheet is decidedly gratifying and demonstrates the fact that there is abundant patronage in this field awaiting a first-class publication such as it is proposed the News-Letter shall be.

Advertisers in the News Letter are now able to reach the best class of readers on the North Shore, owing to the consolidation of the newspapers heretofore published at Highland Park and Winnetka.

MILITARY ACADEMY NOTES.

Capt. and Mrs. Reddick spent Sunday in Chicago.

The freshmen have provided an interesting program for the entertainment this evening.

Rev. Pfanstiehl addressed the cadets on Sunday night from the text:
"Lord, what wil! thou have me to do?"

On March fourth an athletic and military carnival will be given in the gymnasium by the cadets, and the proceeds will be applied to the purchase of new apparatus which will make the gym complete to the last detail. The program arrangements will be fully announced later. Major Davidson has the entire matter in charge and he promises one of the most interesting and instructive entainments ever given in Highland Park. The leatures of the program will embrace all forms of athletic exill work, fancy and regulation manouvers.

The last regular Saturday evening entertainment at the N. M. A., was given by the ladies of the faculty and embraced many novel and interesting features. The affair was called a "railroad party" and consisted of a series of games, followed by refreshments.

The parlors were arranged to represent a passenger coach, while the library was transformed into a dining car. Mrs. Major Davidson officiated as conductor of the train, her work was checked by a ticket collector, Miss Burke. Mrs. Capt. Reddick performed the arduous duties of brakeman, while Miss Alice Davidson, and Mrs. Trask coined money as peanut venders. The train made a record breaking trip, thanks to the fearlessness and the skill of Engineer, Miss Schultz. After the trip had been made to the principal cities of the world with an utter disregard of mileage, hot-bexes or water tanks, the party passed into the dining-car, where Chef John Summers had provided an abundant repast. Music and the Virginia reel brought the novel entertainment to a pleasant close.
