AN ELABORATE AFFAIR.

The hop, given at the Military Academy on the evening of Washington's birthday, was an elaborate affair, large, and select, although limited somewhat by the inclement weather and the Lenten season. The hall was profusely decorated; walls and ceilings being ablaze with electric effects, set pieces and special designs of academy significance. Flags, bunting, trophies and class colors in gorgeous profusion added greatly to the pleasing effect. In the center of the ceiling was a diamond design in white incandescents, while the national shield in red, white and blue in front of the hall was supported by the class flag and a mammoth school pin. Music furnished the inspiring strains. Charming toilettes, military regalia and the bewitching presence of fair ladies from home and abroad completed a dazzling and fascinating effect never witnessed outside of military circles. The usual refreshments were served. When the sleighbell so outside gave warning of the breaking-up hour all present felt that the evening
