

The Ringling Club undeterred by the weather of Monday evening, enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Palmer at her home, and all the members of the club unite in saying that for originality of games participated in, and for the successful carrying through of the whole evening's program, the hostess of Monday evening fully equalled anything that has yet been done by the Ringlinites. Miss Everett, Mr. David Gray and Mr. Hodson captured the prizes in the games that preceded the elaborate supper, and dancing finished the evenings' fun.

Mrs. Failmentzer whose pupils in the Park speak highly of her as a pianist is giving instrumental lessons at terms, which for an instructor of such ability, are very moderate. Inquire for particulars of Mrs. George McNabb.
