Can the city not come to a decision soon as to the making of the much-needed crossing over the railroad on Vine avenue? All the people in the northern part of the Park, as well as all the members of the Golf Club, are anxious to have something done in this matter.

The "Ringlings" met with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson on Monday evening, and the enthusiasm and excitement was as characteristic of the club as ever, even though the members present were not as numerous as could have been desired. The gentleman's prize was taken by Mr. Fred Winchester. As it was Mr. Winchester's fourth card prize of the winter, he very courteously responded at the time of the presentation by inviting the Ringling Club to be his guest on Thursday evening at a dinner in Chicago at the Edelweiss, to be followed by a theater party. Over a dozen club members enjoyed Mr. Winchester's hospitality on Thursday evening, the theater party witnessing the "Little Corporal" at the Grand Opera House.

Don't forget the entertainment at the Presbyterian church next Thursday evening.

Schneider & Cooke have purchased a beautiful watch sign, but on account of the continuance of cold weather have been unable to put same out.

Miss A. R. La Barr has returned from Washington where she went as the representative of the North Shore chapter of D. A. R., of which Miss La Barr is regent,—to the national convention in Washington.

If, through some unlooked for cause, work that has been done by us since our business in Highland Park has not given satisfaction, we will consider it a great favor if the same will be returned to us for examination. We have now in our employ a watch-maker of 23 years experience. Schneider & Cooke.

We shall present to our readers from time to time illustrations of interesting scenes along the North Shore. For many of the cuts to be used we are under obligation to "Gardening," an excellent floricultural journal published at the Monon building, Chicago.

A number of good natured nags who have known nothing save the locomotive to perturb their gentle spirits, have shown signs of great distress over the advent of the trolley. The motormen, in some instances, have failed to bring their cars to a stop until the frightened horses could be quieted, and Mr. Coe of Ravinia has received a letter from the Electric road management stating that the employees have strict orders to stop cars promptly when there seems to be danger of a runaway. The trolley will become an everyday affair in the course of time, but in the interim it is to be hoped the equines will not lose their equanimity.

Schneider & Cooke give a written guarantee with all watch repairing; a fac-simile of same will appear in the NEWS-LETTER shortly.
