To Improve Glencoe.

To the Editor: "In union there is strength," and the value of concerted, persistent effort toward a certain definite end, in a community or municipality, can hardly be overestimated; vide, the North Clark Street Business Men's Club, in Chicago, which, in a year, has rescued that thoroughfare from mud and filth, both material and moral, paved it with asphalt and made it a fine, desirable thoroughfare. In Winnetka the Improvement Association is chiefly responsible for the handsome system of macadamized streets, of which that suburb can boast while Glencoe hangs her head. It seems to me that now is the time to wake up and crystallize public sentiment in Glencoe by the formation of an Improvement Club, having for its object the carrying out of desirable public works, as paving, sewerage and lighting our streets; creating a public library, securing concessions, lower fares or the increase of facilities from railroad, and so forth.

To such an organization let us invite not only men and women, but boys and girls over 15 years of age. Let the membership fee be nominal—just enough to provide printing, postage, books and stationery for officers and committees. The dictum of such an organization will always be listened to with respect, and will carry vastly greater weight than individual effort. Who will join?
