DEERFIELD, LAKE COUNTY, ILLINOIS.
ELECTION APRIL 4th, 1899.

OFFICIAL BALLOT

Highland Park Paragraphs.

Mr. A. C. Morgan is in Minneapolis for a few days.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Bour-nique's popular dancing class at the Highland Park Club closed its winter shedule and a most successful term it has been in every way.

Mr. Edward Clark, who has a responsible position on the Chicago Tribune, has been a visitor in the Park for some time recently. Mrs. Clark and daughter are here with her mother, Mrs. Obee. They hope to soon come out to the Park to live.

Easter services will be held at the Presbyterian church tomorrow at 10:45 a. m., Mr. Hodson has decorated the church profusely and artistically with flowers and plants. The music will be special and the pastor, Rev. Pfanstiehl, will preach a sermon appropriate for Easter Sabbath, Everybody is invited to attend.

While questions of policy as to what is best for the city's welfare are becoming prominent in the minds of all. While hopes for the election of the best men on the different tickets, are entertained by all. While many are trusting the city will soon see that Vine avenue is opened across the railroad, to make easier access to the Golf club, and others are occupied with studying the improving of Port Clinton ave; and while all these questions are now prominent, there yet remains an evil that has cursed the Park, as it does other North Shore towns. It is an evil that our police officers are going to try and eradicate. Can they do it? Can they clear the down town sidewalks of loafers on summer evenings. People like to use those walks for walking and it is a nuisance to have this idle assemblage of do-nothings in the way. Let the city build them a loafing paradise to luxuriate in, it will take them out of sight of other people. If our police officers can instill into the places where their minds ought to be of these human statues of idleness the knowledge that they "must move on" —then our policemen will deserve the everlasting gratitude of a long-suffering public.
