THE OSSOLI.

The Ossoli Club met in the Highland Park Club House, Thursday afternoon, April 6th at half after three o'clock. It was distinctly 'guest day.'

By the courtesy of Mrs. Laura Dayton Fessenden, the club had the pleasure of listening to her admirable paper on "Emile Zola" which was thoroughly appreciated and provoked a warm discussion. Mrs. Ball four, the guest from Chicago, rendered three beautiful selections. The first, "Hosanna" and afterwards Denza's "May Morning," followed by Burns' "Red, Red Rose." The rooms looked bright and pretty with their glory of Easter lilies and American beauty roses. Mrs. Hipwell and Mrs. Stedman were the hostesses.

On Thursday afternoon, April 13, the members and guests of the Ossoli Club spent a delightful afternoon with Kipling. The president introduced Master Holbrook Ashton, who recited the "Recessional." Capt. Wainright sang "On the Road to Maudslayi," accompanied by his daughter; then came Mrs. Henry Street's paper on "Rudyard Kipling," followed by Capt. Wainright singing "Hanging of Dannie Deeser."

A great diversity of opinion was voiced in the discussion, which always lends an additional interest. The pleasant afternoon was brought to a close over the cheering cup of tea which Mrs. Lord Hall and Mrs. Troxel served.

Mrs. George Whiteway and children, of Ravenswood, spent Wednesday and Thursday in the Park, with her aunt, Mrs. Edward Moone.

Several poultry fanciers in the Park are having great success with newly purchased incubators. Hatching and raising chicks by incubators and brooders is a very interesting pastime. The Reliable Incubator and Brooder Co. of Quincy, Ills., stands at the head of their line of business.
