We understand that the ladies of the Sacred Heart are negotiating for the tract of land a mile south of the station, known as the Helm place. In case the deal is effected, a convent will be erected upon the property. These nuns have a world-wide reputation as educators, and a school under their direction would be a great acquisition to Lake Forest.

Decoration Day was a busy day for our people. Entertainments of various kinds were provided to suit various tastes. The school children assembled at the school house at the usual time in the morning, arrayed in white dresses and duck trowsers, and formed in line behind the G. A. R. men as they marched down from their hall. The procession halted in the square in front of the hall, where exercises were held, then reorganized and proceeded to the cemetery, where the children assisted
