In 1850 it was estimated that the consumption of pure alcohol in France equaled 1½ litres a head of the population. In 1896 it had increased to 4.19 litres, apart from the use of wine, beers and cider.

King Oscar of Sweden is the most musical of reigning monarchs. In his younger days he was regarded as the most accomplished tenor in Europe, and could have made a fortune out of his voice on the stage.

LEADING MEN OF GOTHAM.

Eastman Johnson, the distinguished genre and portrait painter, was born in Lowell, Me.

The richest man in the city, and in the world, is John D. Rockefeller, a native of Tioga county, New York.

Our leading sculptor—at least who divides the place of honor with Ward—is Saint-Gaudens, a native of Dublin.

In finance the admitted leader is John Pierpont Morgan, who was born in Hartford and came to New York at the age of 20.

Joseph Hodges Choate, one of the most distinguished lawyers of the age, was born in Salem, Mass., and came to this city at the age of 24.

The greatest after-dinner orator, a politician, a railroad man, a lawyer, and United States senator, Chauncey Mitchell Depew, was born in Peekskill, N. Y., and was not a New Yorker until 32 years old.

In surgery Dr. Lewis Albert Sayre stands at the top. He was born at Battle Hill, N. J., and began practicing here at the age of 22. He was intended for the church, but got to be such a swearer that the cloth would not fit him.

FOUND THE LEASE.

And the Poor Notary's Clerk Was Rewarded with a Box.

Paris Correspondence Chicago Record: At the gala night of the Comedie Francaise one of the most luxurious and prominent boxes was occupied by an ordinary notary's clerk, whose presence suggests an interesting story. Two months ago, when the historical society here was arranging its part in the Racine fete, it made up its mind to place a commemorative tablet on the house in Paris in which the poet had lived. But the name of the street and the numbers have been changed so often that there was great difficulty in deciding which house it was. Some descriptions of the place exist in letters of and about Racine, but they might have applied to two or three houses. A great dispute arose, and there seemed only one way of settling it. If the original lease, by which Racine held the house for so many years, could be found it might contain specifications too definite to admit of doubt. Did this lease exist? It should, for all such documents are finally filed in the notarial archives, of which there are twenty different branches in Paris. M. Claretie, director of the Theater Francais, offered to the notary who would find the lease a first-class box for the evening of the Comedie's celebration and other newspaper honors dear to the Parisian heart. The result was that after a fortnight's hunting a very dust-be-grimed young man turned up at M. Claretie's office with the precious document gripped tightly in his hand. He was a notary's clerk who had been living for two weeks amid the documentary flotsam and jetsam of 200 years ago.

Riches and Climate of Siberia.

Siberia is not the land buried in snow and peopled with exiles only that it is imagined to be, even by many Russians. In its southern parts it is rich in natural productions as are the southern parts of Canada, and besides 500,000 of natives it has a population of more than 4,000,000 as thoroughly Russian as that to the north of Moscow.

Style in the West.

There is something wrong when western Kansas papers print menus for yacht luncheons, styles for bathing suits, etc. Few Kansas people ever saw a yacht, and we all know there is no bathing in the state except in a tub by the kitchen fire on Saturday night.—Atchison Globe.

Literary Switzerland.

A French statistician declares that Switzerland produces annually more books than any other country in proportion to the number of inhabitants, namely, one to every 3,000. Germany comes next with one for every 3,200; Italy with one for 3,300; France, one for 3,500; England, one for 6,500; United States, one for 12,400.
