

Progress in Winnetka.

The completion of the beautiful and thoroughly modern school building in Winnetka, shows a recognition of the value to a fine residence town what the best of things in an educational way are. Winnetka early appreciated the value of macadam streets, but not until now has she placed herself in the front ranks of the suburbs that are striving to give themselves the position that their great natural beauty entitles them to. It would be interesting to know if the sentiment in Winnetka favors an early closing of the schools in June, to avoid unnecessary exposure of the children to the severe hot period that invariably is experienced in that month. The feeling in Lake Forest and in Highland Park is that the first week in June is none too early to close.

General Sheridan says he has talked with French army men who think Dreyfus was justly treated. Evidently some of Uncle Sam's nephews are getting into bad company.
