SATURDAY, OCTOBER 14.

In one or two of the North Shore suburbs a fear has been entertained at times by some people that a licensed saloon might be permitted by officials of the city government. The councils have the power to permit a saloon to open its doors, but back of the councils are the property owners and they constitute a safe guard against anything of this kind.

The very people most to be desired as residents of the North Shore are those to whom the absence of anything in the nature of a saloon in a home town appeals as a most attractive point in favor of that town.

One may hear of rumors of saloons to be, but that one should seriously believe that any of our residence towns is to be cursed with a saloon, such a person would be sadly underestimating the power of public sentiment on the North Shore. The opinion of a vast majority of the people of these communities is unalterably opposed to the licensing of a saloon being thought of. Let any city council attempt giving such a privilege to any party and the now dormant but nevertheless powerful moral forces capable of crushing such an attempt, will soon assert themselves.

Any hotels erected in our beautiful North Shore towns, be those hotels ever so fine must flourish without the saloon attachment, for these towns are home towns, and as such have no use for the saloon. Happily the North Shore, endowed as it is by Nature with so much that is beautiful has, by reason of that natural beauty, attached to it people to whom only that which is best, appeals as regards our social life. And these people may be trusted to maintain for the North Shore its reputation as an ideal home district.
