

The North Shore League.

Rev. Pfanstiehl's young men's Sabbath school class were treated to a very happy surprise by his announcement to them last Friday evening, at their monthly social and business meeting, that he had made arrangements for them to take an excursion with him to Madison, Wis., to witness the championship football game between Chicago and Wisconsin. The boys were all on hand Saturday morning, as happy a set of young men as ever left Highland Park for an outing. They joined the crowd that left Chicago on the second section of a special train, joining lustily in the "noise." The game was thoroughly enjoyed by all, and though Mr. Pfanstiehl did not make as much noise at the game as some of them—Frank Anderson, for example (ask Mr. R. W. Patton about him!)—yet the boys say it was not lack of interest, but the necessity to save himself from becoming hoarse like the rest of them, since preaching came next day! Somehow this Sabbath school class have about as good a time as any set of boys in the state, and it all goes subordinate to and in keep of their faithful attendance at Sabbath school on Sabbath. They are among the most faithful attendants in the school. Rev. Pfanstiehl joins heartily with them in their social life, believing that the church makes a mistake to turn all the good things of the world over to the Devil, who leads men to abuse them instead of use them for good and helpfulness.

Did you see the grand display in Brand's studio window?

School will close next week Friday for the holidays and not open till January 2, 1900.

Mrs. Griffith of Chicago gave a reception Wednesday afternoon at her south side residence in honor of the Rev. Robert M. Rabb, pastor of the Baptist church in this city, and his old Rochester Seminary classmate, the Rev. M. Crane of Cincinnati. Several were invited from this city and report a choice gathering of Chicago University professors and others.

We don't exactly like that dull, yellow paint on the woodwork of the Presbyterian parsonage, and we don't believe that is the national color of Holland, either.

Why don't the fellow who brought suit against Charles Streiber for some fire department goods pay Judge Dooley his costs? "Peter" wants his money and should have it.

Judge Hibbard says he has been invited to a New Year's memorial service by the church in Cavendish, Vt., where he was pastor twenty years ago. He may go if the sleighing is good.

Last Thursday a big consignment of kodaks, developing and printing outfits, tripods, albums, films, plates, etc., arrived at Brand's studio, which they are selling at unheard of prices. See advertisement.

The Waukegan Sun is trying to prove that the twentieth century opens a week from next Monday, January 1, 1900. Next we know the erudite Stearns will prove the moon made of green cheese.

F. W. Cushing wants all Port Clinton avenue macadamized from Central avenue to the Fort, so the guests at his new hotel can ride their bikes down here after their mail and up to see the soldiers on dress parade.
