The Ossoli.

On the evening of January first the Highland Park Club, whose reputation for hospitality and courtesy to strangers is so well known all along the North Shore—threw open its doors, the occasion being the Ossoli reception. The spacious rooms of the club house had been made beautiful for the event by the hospitality committee of the Ossoli Club and were elaborately decorated in evergreens, holly and potted cyclamens, while the supper room was fragrant with palms and cut flowers, the table decorations being white hyacinths and pink roses. Near the wide fire place, with its blazing logs, stood the ladies who received the guests: Mrs. Thorn, Miss Chandler, Mrs. Cobb, Mrs. Patton, Mrs. Kirk and Mrs. Knox. Just above them and crossing a beam was the greeting—“A Happy New Year—1900,” wrought in scarlet immortelles against a back ground of dark green foliage; the whole scene, with the bright costumes of the ladies present, making a charming bit of color.

From 7 until 9 o'clock a delicious collation was informally served to the members of the Highland Park Club and their friends, after which the music committee of the Ossoli Club, Mrs. Alex Mason and Miss Wycoff, had arranged a short program of old melodies.

Miss Wycoff gave with much feeling and expression the “Old Arm Chair,” Mrs. Ranney Winchester sang “Embarrassment” and for an encore gave “Tender and True,” while the rendering of Ben Bolt, The Danube River” and “Annie Laurie” by Miss Wycoff called up memories of days past and gone to most of the older ones present and brought a tear to the eye and a suspicious lump in the throat. Mrs. Mason gave by special request the ever sweet and never old melody “Home, Sweet Home,” and the musical program ended by all present singing “Auld Lang Syne,” after which the Virginia Reel was danced with great gusto and from that on the evening was given up to mirth and dancing. Every one at parting voiced the same sentiment: “Let us by all means have more such evenings.” Special thanks are due Mrs. Charles Everett and Mr W. Carver, whose spirited dance music added so much to the evenings' success.

Hockey Game Today.

The “Drumtochy” skating rink of Highland Park will see its first match game of “hokey” of the season this afternoon—weather permitting. A hokey team from Chicago will play a home team composed of Messrs. Lynn Rutter, W. E. Flinn, Fred Boynton, Russell Hill, Harry Towner, and one other. Hockey is probably the best of all played on ice and its growing popularity on the north shore is the best proof of its value as a means for winter recreation. All Park people who have not visited the “Drumtochy” skating rink will have a good opportunity this afternoon to see some fun. The game will begin at 3 o'clock.

F. W. Schumacher is making a specialty this winter of a fine line of “hot drinks.” In this regard as in others Mr. Schumacher shows a commendable desire to be in the front rank of Park drug stores in all that pertains to enterprise.
