"America" Revised.

My country, 'tis of thee
That set Hawaii free
Of thee I sing,
I am a slave no more,
I've dumped the load I bore
And ceased to kneel before
A queen or king.

Land of the brave and just,
Land of the sugar trust,
How sweet to be
Held up outside the gate
And made to pay the freight—
I tell you what it's great
And tickles me,

A Noble Deed.

Mr. Esra Warner, of the wholesale grocery house of Sprague Warner & Co., who has his residence in Lake Forest, is a native of Middlebury, Vt. The chief glory of the town is its college, one of the many "country colleges" for which New England is noted. These colleges are located in the country it is true, but for all that they made New England what she is and New England has made the country what it is. These small colleges were attended by men of sterling virtues, virile vigor and intellectual ability. What mighty men there were, Not of Uuiou, Hopkins of Williams, Hitchcock of Amherst, Wayland of Brown and so on.

Esra Warner was a graduate of this little country college of his native town of Middlebury, when he started out in the world, for himself, his face turned toward the setting sun, but his father and friends urged him to remain at home as he could surely fit himself for the bar and in time secure an income of $1,500 a year, a large revenue for those days in a rural town. But his far sighted sagacity saw possibilities in that western town, at the mouth of the Chicago river. He came west and today his firm is one, if not the leading one in its line, in the northwest, and his income runs up into the scores of thousands.

But that is not all. He does not forget the town and state which gave him birth and early training; which put vigor and tone into muscle, nerve and heart and so, while he does not pass by the university at his elbow, he does not forget his Alma Mater, hence these gifts. All honor to Esra Warner and such as he is; $70,000 means very much to his old college.

Correspondence.

MR. EDITOR:
I write this note to take exception to the letter of "A Reader" in last week's paper. He objects to the autobiography, if we may call it such, of Bishop Whipple.

I am a double-breasted, predesertian, hard-shell, deep-water, close-communication Baptist, but I am very glad and most thoroughly approve the purchase of the Whipple volumes for the public library. Bishop Whipple was more of a Christian statesman than a churchman, and yet he was a royal, a loyal Episcopalian. But he was a great man, full of practical sense and practical living, Christianlike, and I look forward with delight to the reading of that book. I want the library committee to get more of the same sort, like the life of Dean Stanley, Prof. Jewett, etc.

Yes, let us have Tyerman's life of Wesley, and so on. We care not for the denominational garb, it is the man underneath the garb we are after. It might be well to have the library board scattered more evenly among the several denominations of city, including the Roman Catholics. But the present mayor could not see that. In the meantime let us rejoice in the good work the library board is doing; help them to get all the good books, like the Whipple biography, etc., they can; tell them what we want, and when we get a broad-minded, cosmopolitan mayor, he will distribute the honors.

Lewis B. Hibbard.
P. S. I forgot to say I want a good life of Pope Leo; let Father Madden tell us the best one. Also some of Bishop Spaulding's work on education; they are valuable discussions on an important subject.

Ubique.

The teachers in our public schools scattered last week from the Rockies to the Atlantic. We give their names and postoffice addresses, beginning with the first grade.

Miss Barlow, Delavan, Wis.; Miss McKnight 5,715 Monroe ave., Chicago; Miss Robinson, Council Bluffs, Ia.; Miss Stephenson, Pontiac, Mich.; Miss Lawrence, Carbondale, Ill.; Miss Botton, Shafsbury Depot, Vt.; Miss Kostanzer, 3,117 N. st., Lincoln, Neb.; Miss Penn, Des Moines, Ia.; Miss Holmes, Mt. Erie, Ill.; Miss Stoddard, Valparaiso, Ind.

A New Drug Store.

We congratulate our northern suburb of Highland on the possession of so fine up to date a drug store as that recently fitted up and occupied by Mr. Julius Laegler. It is "as neat as wax," light, airy, conspicuous and only a step from the electric line of street cars and half a short block from the railway station, and at the same time in the very heart of the business section. It enjoys the unique distinction of being in two cities, Highland Park and Fort Sheridan village. This fact was once utilized by a saloon keeper, but the saloon is outside the natural saloon belt or district, and so proving unsatisfactory for that purpose was secured by Mr. Laegler.

In addition to a full line of drugs and proprietary medicines from the old-time blue pill, till the latest fad of the patent medicine line, he carries full lines of stationery, toilet articles, cigars, etc., etc., and will arrive at an early date the finest soda fountain on the shore. Give him a trial for anything in his line. Phone 31.

Mr. Hambleton Injured.

Last Sunday morning as Mr. E. S. Hambleton was taking his horseback ride out into the country, when near Mr. Basye's Galloway farm in Deerfield, the horse threw him to the ground with great violence, inflicting very serious injuries, the extent of which they have not yet been able to determine.

He was taken to the farm house, where he lies at this writing. Experiments were called for from Chicago who regard the case very serious, but as cannot now be removed and delicate surgical operations are difficult such a place, they are waiting developments. We understand one was broken and thrust into the chest, inflicting what are feared will prove fatal injuries.

He has a large circle of friends in this city who are watching the case with anxious interest almost every hour of the day. As we go to press, further particulars are obtainable.

Are they not getting rather fussy in Chicago? Beginning with Sunday July 1st, the authorities will not allow the wicked milkman to palm off on the innocent people of that city, skim milk for cream.

Lieut. Robert C. Williams is here for a prolonged vacation visit with his wife (nee Miss Nace Yoe) and their child. He was gratified to find Mrs. Williams steadily improving, so that she hopes soon to be out in a carriage.

Mrs. Dan Sheahan had friends on that ill starred Wisconsin train that was wrecked on Sandy Creek. One of them was "shaken up" a little, as he writes, others all escaped. He writes that the screech at the wreck were shocking beyond all description. There seven killed and nearly twenty five wounded, as he reports.

One of our teachers received from the parents of one of her pupils a very handsome present for her fidelity to that pupil during the year. The pupil was a little below grade in her markings but the teacher did not slide over it; she insisted on thorough work and the parents appreciated and approved that kind of work. Some parents found fault for this same thing. "Folks ain't all alike," you see. That teacher is one whom we can't afford to spare.

The Prohibition state convention met in Chicago at First Regiment armory last Tuesday to nominate a complete state ticket and elect delegates to the national convention. Every county in the state has chosen its full quota of representatives and it is expected 2,500 cold water people will rally in Chicago for the state meeting. The National Prohibition meets the following day in the same hall. The Prohibitionist expect to poll a large vote in this state and to have a complete ticket in every congressional and senatorial district.

The "Glorious Fourth" will come next week Wednesday. It put in an appearance in the Park last Saturday when the small boy began discharging fire crackers, and it will continue till next week Saturday.

Miss Ida M. Kiehl, of Chicago, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Maerklin Sunday and Monday.

Mr. Kinley and Rossvell can now go on and be elected, if they can get votes enough—they have been "ratified" in Waukegan, nothing more to be done.

MAKE POULTRY PAY.

In order to succeed in the poultry business as well as in anything else, it is necessary to start right. The first essential in poultry (chick) is itself. Unless there is successful incubation and successful brooding there can be no poultry. Chicks that die as soon as they kick out of the shell, or at the end of the second day, do so because they were not properly hatched. They were robbed of their vitality and their ability to live by incorrect methods in incubation. The make no such mistakes. They are so constructed that a new beginner is bound to succeed—just fill and light the lamp; the machine does the rest. Controls heat, moisture and ventilation perfectly.

"OLD RELIABLE" INCUBATORS

Our Reliable Patent Copper Leg Bands are the best, easiest applied and most durable bands made. Reduced to 12 for 50c. For 50c, 100 for 80c, 500 for $3.50, 1,000 for $6.50. post or express free to any address.
