A Good nitator.

Waukegan is a good town to fol low our example. When they saw what a booming s cess our Exmoor golf club had become, they orgainized one of their own, and will also be out on the lin s of the Waukegan terms as putt, brasie, tee, etc.

No sooner had our own summer hotel, the Morai , proved itself a success, than they set about having a big, new hotel al and it now really looks as though the first year of the century would se our enterprising in this regard.

An Infelicitous Memorial Tablet.

One cannot help smiling at the in felicity of the tablet recently set up in the Fifth Auenue Presbyterian Church in New York, in memory of Dr. John Hall. It simply gives the dates of his birth and death, and says that he was "pastor of this church from November 3d, 1867, to September 17th, 1898," and then ends with this singular text, "There remaineth therefore a rest for the people of God." That his depart. Country Club's looks, and they will are should give rest to the people of ere long, become fimiliar with such God is what some who remember last year or two of his life do not like to have suggested. That is not what the committee meant by the Scripture passage; neither did Cowper mean by the lines,

"Home Coming."

Many of the eastern states are rapidly adopting the "Home Coming" week plan. The citizens of the town meet in spring or early sum. mer and select a week, say Sept. 5 to 12th, for the home coming week. Notices are then sent of the date, general order of exercises for the two or three days special public exercises of speaking etc., arranged and sent to all the people born or who have lived in that town, wherever they may be all over the country.

Then all who propose visiting the old home this season, plan to go that week. The result is the town gives itself up to welcoming its old friends and kindred and visiting everybody for the whole week. No work is done except milking the cows, feeding the pigs, chickens, cooking the meals, etc., and a memorable week is had. It is a delightful custom.
